

Ike Urges Reciprocal Trade Setup Extension

Vital to U.S. Interests, He Maintains

Washington — President Eisenhower today asked congress for a 5-year extension of the reciprocal trade program with increased power for him to negotiate tariff cuts. He said it "is essential to America's vital national interests."

In a special message, Eisenhower said of the trade program:

"It will strengthen our economy, which is the foundation of our national security. It will enhance the economic health and strength of the free world. It will provide a powerful force in waging total peace."

The requested legislation is expected to stir up one of the major controversies of this congress session.

The administration ran into trouble in lining up a Republican sponsor for the bill. Rep. Reed of New York, senior Republican on the house ways and means committee, is the party man to whom the administration normally would look for sponsorship of the measure.

But Reed declined to put his name to it.

Rep. Kean (R-NJ) agreed to take on the task. The committee has set hearings to begin Feb. 17.

Can Lower Tariffs
The trade program dates back to the Franklin D. Roosevelt administration. Under it, the administration can lower tariffs on imports in return for concessions by other countries as to their tariffs on U. S. products.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the administration program calls for a 5 per cent tariff reduction a year for a 5-year period.

The argument by backers of the program runs that lower tariffs stimulate world trade and are helpful all around. On the other side, the contention is made that increased imports hurt American producers and cause U. S. workers to lose jobs.

Eisenhower took sharp issue with those who insist high tariffs are necessary to protect American industry.

On the contrary, the president said, a healthy U. S. economy depends on expanded trade with other countries.

Challenge by Reds

"We can either receive the benefits of the reciprocal lowering of trade barriers," the president said, "or suffer the inevitable alternative of increasingly high barriers against our own commerce which would weaken our economy and jeopardize American jobs."

"In particular, it is essential to enable us to meet the latest form of economic challenge in the free world presented by communism."

Eisenhower recalled that in his state-of-the-union message, he spoke of an intensive effort by the Russians to take the free world countries into the communist orbit through "combined programs of trade and aid."

Found Unconscious in Gas-Filled Apartment

Washington — Victor Purse, the state department employee who figured in a controversy last fall after he accepted an automobile from King Saud of Saudi Arabia, was found unconscious today in his gas-filled apartment.

He was reported to be in fair condition by police in Arlington, Va., just across the Potomac river from Washington. Purse was being treated at Arlington hospital.

Arlington Police Detectives Walter F. Cauffman and Robert Payne reported that they found Purse lying on the floor of his apartment kitchen. They said all the gas jets were turned on and a cardboard box covered a ventilator.

Purse, 39, was disclosed last night to be living apart from his wife and their two sons, Victor, Jr., 14, and Geoffrey, 12. Published accounts quoted him as saying: "We've been separated some time — about two months. Legal proceedings are pending."

See Showdown On Control of Space Tests

McElroy's Action Brings Opposition To Military Direction

Washington — Congress appears headed toward a showdown battle over civilian vs. military control of outer space experiments.

A decision by Secretary of Defense McElroy to set up a Pentagon advanced research projects agency brought open opposition today to over-all military direction of space developments.

McElroy said yesterday the ARPA, which is to work on anti-missile and outer space projects, will be officially set up "in a day or two." He said he wants it in existence before funds are voted for it.

While they did not immediately challenge McElroy's decision, Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) and other members of the senate armed services committee said the secretary's action is not going to be accepted by them as any final determination of who will supervise the race to space.

Need Full Information
"This is a matter on which congress must have full information," Russell said. "This is too vital a matter to be disposed of by some administrative order."

Russell said he had not made up his mind about the kind of agency that ought to handle space developments. But he said he is opposed to putting a direction of the program in the hands of the atomic energy commission as Sens. Anderson (D-NM) and Gore (D-Tenn.) have proposed. They too have opposed military control.

Anderson heads a subcommittee of the senate-house atomic energy committee which already is concerning itself with proposals for atomic propulsion of outer space vehicles.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) proposed a separate cabinet-level department, saying "the peaceful conquest of space is highly important and must not be overshadowed by military projects."

Agencies Quiz Nearing End

SEC Chairman Last To Be Summoned To House Inquiry

Washington — A house investigating group winds up its initial inquiry into federal regulatory agencies today.

Edward N. Gadsby, chairman of the securities and exchange commission, was the last of the chairmen of the six agencies to be called in the general inquiry as to whether the agencies are carrying out the intent of congress in creating them.

The special subcommittee, headed by Rep. Moulder (D-Mo.), will start hearings Monday on the conduct of members of the federal communications commission and specific other questions involving the commission.

Wednesday night Rep. John Bell Williams (D-Miss), a committee member, told reporters he and Rep. Flynt (D-Ga.) had been reliably informed that certain unspecified documents were missing from the files of the FCC.

Asked if they might be pertinent to the house inquiry, Williams said he could not say.

Baghdad Countries Cite Red Efforts to Control Mideast

'Communist Imperialism' Hit As Conference Ends at Ankara

Ankara — The Baghdad pact powers said today "communist imperialism" is increasing its efforts to dominate the prized oil-producing Middle East.

In a communique winding up a meeting of ministers, the allies and a U. S. team led by Secretary of State Dulles asserted Russia is directing these attempts by exploiting the fear of war, economic distress and regional tension.

The communique said communist "infiltration and subversion continue to be a menace and call for constant vigilance and increased solidarity."

Reds Increase Efforts
In the last half year, the allies said, "communist imperialism had increased its efforts. These efforts, in the form of pressure threats and false accusations, were particularly directed by the Soviet Union against Turkey."

The communique listed these declarations by the council, consisting of British, Turkish, Iraqi, Iranian and Pakistani ministers:

Creation of a combined military planning staff to serve as a nucleus for an eventual unified command.

A recommendation to hold combined military staff training exercises soon.

Appointment of Turkish Lt. Gen. Ekrem Akalin as director of the combined planning staff for 1958, with American Air Force Maj. Gen. Daniel S. Campbell as his deputy.

U.S. Aid Pledged
Further expansions of scientific cooperation and a joined program of economic development of the region.

The ministers in their 4-day meeting expanded the Middle East alliance's military planning staff and heard U. S. pledges of $10 million more in aid and "mobile power in great force" to meet any aggression.

Nehru Opposes Bomb Distribution

New Delhi — Prime Minister Nehru took the occasion of Martyrs' day—India's commemoration of Mohandas K. Gandhi and those who died for Indian independence — to denounce today "the supply of atom bombs" to any Asian nation.

He referred to the request of Pakistan Premier Feroz Khan Noon at the Baghdad pact meeting in Ankara that the western members of the alliance furnish their partners with the latest weapons—presumably missiles capable of carrying atomic warheads.

Wyoming Governor Against Executions

Sheridan, Wyo. — Gov. Milward Simpson said today if Charles Starkweather, 19-year-old Nebraska gunman, is sentenced to death in Wyoming he will commute it to life imprisonment because of his personal aversion to capital punishment.

Simpson, reached in Sheridan on a state business trip, said he would "in a jiffy" sign extradition papers removing Starkweather to Nebraska custody where he is accused of the Florida east coast yesterday.

Jupiter-C Test Time Uncertain

Cape Canaveral, Fla. — Winds subsided considerably here today but the time when the army may try to put a man-made "moon" into orbit with its Jupiter-C missile still is uncertain.

The weather bureau reported winds of 17 miles per hour in the middle of the morning and on a state business trip, said he would "in a jiffy" sign extradition papers removing Starkweather to Nebraska custody where he is accused of the Florida east coast yesterday.

Young Killer and Girl Under Arrest

Disarmed After Slaying Shoe Salesman for 10-Death Total

Douglas, Wyo. — A young gunman sought in a wave of 10 savage killings was run to earth yesterday in the badlands of eastern Wyoming.

Charles Starkweather, 19, and his brunet girl friend, Carol Fugate, 14, were captured after blood. He thought he was bleeding to death, the sheriff added, one in Wyoming had been slain in a 3-day period.

The girl told officers she feared before the final chase led Starkweather, red-haired and wearing rimless glasses, to the living quarters of the sheriff and his wife on the second floor of the jail.

Two possible reasons for the weather snarled as officers waved of slaying came to light haled him to a jail cell. "If I'd today."

At Lincoln, Neb., his father, Guy Starkweather, said: "He is to lose his sight within a year," because of being hit on the head by a piece of lumber.

The father said he believed "everything just built up inside Charlie until he went berserk."

Writes Statement
County Atty. William Dixon at Douglas said a letter to Starkweather from Carol's mother was found in his pockets after his arrest. Dixon declined to reveal what the letter said, but said it "had to do with Carol's mother and her attitude towards Starkweather."

Carl's mother, Mrs. Velda Bartlett, 37, was one of the nine persons killed in Nebraska.

Sheriff Heflin served papers on Starkweather in his cell today charging him with the Wyoming slaying of a Montana shoe salesman. The sheriff said he had a hand-written statement from Starkweather, a statement "about as long as a rope."

He said he planned to get a statement today from the girl. Starkweather spent two hours last night working on his statement. Afterward Dixon said

"Russian anti-aircraft missiles may be able to prevent western airplanes from penetrating into Russian territory."

"I do not think that the danger is so much that the Russians will go to war because of their military superiority, but that they may be able to force their will on the west with their rockets."

"The west must, with all means, meet these developments by standing close together and developing our own weapons."

Union Paid Yacht Costs

Craft Used by Maloney, Friends, Testimony Indicates

Washington — P— Senate investigators developed testimony today that the yacht used by union boss William E. Maloney and friends has cost the union members around $130,000—including pay for a non-union skipper.

Maloney, international president of the Operating Engineers union, was absent as the racketeers investigating committee dug into his handling of union funds. He was asked to be present but sent word he was ill.

But staff investigators told the committee that Maloney and other union executives have been entertaining their wives and guests on this 47-foot yacht since 1949.

The yacht Half Moon is listed as a craft for "coastal inspection" on the union's books, the investigators said.

But the captain himself, a leathery faced man named Cecil F. Braund, said all he ever saw it used for was trips around Miami Beach, where the boat is docked, and to New York and Washington.

The committee swung to Maloney's union stewardship after getting a fresh refusal by Chicago Contractor Stephen A. Healy to say whether he had paid bribes to Maloney for favored labor contracts. Healy was threatened with prosecution for contempt.

U.S. Summit Stand Faces New Difficulties

European Public Opinion Favors Meeting With Russian Leaders On Soviet Terms if Necessary

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington — P— The United States faces mounting difficulties in holding to its position that a summit conference should be held only if there is advance proof it will be successful.

State department officials are worried over reports from western Europe that public opinion increasingly favors a conference top-level conference with Russian leaders on Soviet terms if it cannot be arranged on western terms.

Officials report that there is so far no basic difference of view among allied governments on their demand for careful preparation in advance of a top level session. That preparation would have to afford proof that such a meeting can achieve agreements on important issues.

But public opinion in countries like Britain exerts a powerful pressure on government policies as it does here. In the weeks ahead this may make it difficult for the allies to maintain a solid front on the matter.

GM Head Says Costs Up More Than Car Prices

Curtice Follows Reuther to Stand Before Subcommittee

Washington — P— General Motors President Harlow H. Curtice said today that the higher price tags on its 1958 model cars fail to cover the increased cost of producing them.

"For every dollar of increase in our own costs," he said, "price has increased only 60 cents."

Curtice was called before the senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee after two days of testimony by Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers union (UAW).

The GM president told the subcommittee, inquiring into pricing practices in the automobile industry, that "increased wage costs have been the largest single element in our rising costs."

'Professed Concern'
And he said he found it somewhat difficult to reconcile Reuther's "professed concern over inflation with his announced 1958 collective bargaining program."

The UAW has proposed, as part of its goal, a plan under which workers and car buyers would share in the profits of the automobile manufacturers.

Reuther contended that wages have lagged behind productivity and profits and that his profit-sharing plan would help to overcome what he called an imbalance in the economy by increasing purchasing power.

While Curtice made no direct reference to the UAW's recently unveiled profit-sharing plan, he rapped Reuther's proposal of last year that the big three auto makers—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler—agree to cut 1958 model prices by $100.

'Unrealistic'
He called the proposal "completely unrealistic" and said he thought it was obvious that was "just another public relations ploy."

In return for the proposed price cut, he said, Reuther had offered only to take it into consideration in making contract demands this year.

Reuther told newsmen during a recess in the hearing yesterday that if the auto companies and Soviet Communist Party boss agreed to cut car prices $100, Nikita Khrushchev have been the calling for a summit conference without detailed preparation to work out at least tentative solutions and after that a summit conference.

By contrast Bulganin and Soviet Communist Party boss agreed to cut car prices $100, Nikita Khrushchev have been the calling for a summit conference without detailed preparation to work out at least tentative solutions and after that a summit conference.

Their proposal is that the conference should agree on a few simple things and set the pattern for detailed negotiations to follow.

Inventor of Surgical Procedure Undergoes Bladder Operation

Santa Monica, Calif. — P— Before Dr. Lee De Forest, 84, the "father of radio," underwent removal of a bladder tumor yesterday, he asked what kind of surgical procedure would be used.

"Electro-dissociation," Dr. W. L. Marker told him.

"Commonly spoken of as a hot wire," De Forest commented. "I invented it — in 1907."

Dr. Marker said the inventor is in good shape today.

De Forest launched the electronic age when he perfected the 3-element vacuum tube in 1906. He holds more than 300 patents. He celebrated his 84th birthday by applying for a patent on a 4-inch-thick television set that can be hung on a wall like a picture.

Dr. Marker told a reporter the hot wire which coagulates blood as it removes tissue. Has saved thousands of lives in prostate and bladder operations.

Firemen Rescue Two Men Buried in Trench

Milwaukee — P— Two men buried up to their necks in a 26-foot sewer trench cave-in were rescued Wednesday by firemen. Oxygen was administered while the men were being dug free.

Herbert Schuler, 23, suffered a broken left leg, and his companion, Carmen Cavellero, 27, a bruised chest. Both were taken to Johnston Emergency hospital.

The mishap occurred as the men worked on S. 27th street on Highway 41.

School Officials Claim Threat of Indictment Made to Dead Principal On Wage Freeze

Foreman of Grand Jury Calls Statement 'A Deliberate Lie'

New York — P— Top school officials say a junior high school principal may have killed himself because a grand juror threatened him with indictment. The foreman of the jury denies the charge.

The accusation came yesterday at funeral services for George Goldfarb, 53, principal of Brooklyn's John Marshall Junior High school.

On Tuesday, Goldfarb leaped from the roof of his apartment house at the time he was to make his third appearance before the Brooklyn grand jury. The panel is probing crime and juvenile delinquency in the public schools.

Charles H. Silver, president of the city board of education, told newsmen at Goldfarb's last rites that the school principal had been threatened with indictment and "this probably caused him to take his life. He was very worried."

Told of Warning
As School Superintendent William Jansen listened and nodded approval Silver said: "Several hours before Mr. Goldfarb appeared before the grand jury last Thursday (for the second time) he came before the board of education.

"In discussing with us his grand jury interrogation, he said that a juror had warned him he might be, or could be, indicted."

No indication was given on what charge Goldfarb could have been indicted.

Grand jury foreman A. George Golden immediately issued a denial, terming Silver's statement "a deliberate lie," adding that Silver "made that up out of his own mind to be a fuddle the public."

Golden continued: "In everything we have done thus far, the board officials have deliberately lied and cast remarks against the members of this grand jury."

Meanwhile some students at a racially mixed John Marshall school body is 45 per cent Negro and 10 per cent Puerto Rican threatened news and cameramen, saying: "You're making us look bad," and "If the cops come in our school, we'll make them move out."

Establish Patrol
A continuous public patrol was established yesterday both inside and outside the school. Her late husband, Harry, was where a 13-year-old girl was raped 10 days ago, a policeman on duty outside the school.

Sheriff Arley Skenadore said was roughed up, and a recreation teacher was assaulted in the school. The rape as-gone ahead with building plans.

Three Negro youths were arrested in the policeman and you will maintain the present contract on a status quo basis for the coming year. A strong declaration of this kind would go a long way in encouraging construction at this time."

Labor Leaders Cold Toward Bid To Wage Freeze

But Only One Man Flatly Rejects Contractors' Plan

Milwaukee — P— Labor leaders received without enthusiasm Wednesday an appeal by building trades contractors for a wage freeze this year because of what the contractors called "a serious decline in the construction business."

But a flat rejection of the proposal came from only one man. Anthony King, business agent for Plumbers Local 75, said:

"We are going to ask for a wage increase. If prices had been held down we might have been willing to hold the line. But Milwaukee is one of the highest cost of living cities in the country. Our members have been telling us to get increases and we are in accord with them."

John Zancanaro, president of the Milwaukee Building and Construction Trades council, was reached at Wausau and said he was surprised by the plea.

He said he had not seen the request and would withhold comment until he had.

'Wage Cut Didn't Help'
Another labor spokesman said, "We took a wage cut during the depression, but that didn't create work." A suggestion that builders cut their profit margins came from another official, and a third said he thought easing of "tight money policies" would spur building.

The proposal for a wage freeze was made by the Allied Construction Employers association, representing 1,000 contractors in metropolitan Milwaukee.

Their letter said: "A widespread belief that building costs are too high has created a public reluctance to build ahead with building plans. 'What is needed to offset this statement by your group that rested in the policeman and you will maintain the present contract on a status quo basis for the coming year. A strong declaration of this kind would go a long way in encouraging construction at this time.'"

Government to Release Red Scientific Documents

Papers Won't be Stamped Secret Anymore And Left to Gather Dust, Spokesman Says

BY G. K. HODENFIELD

Philadelphia — P— The government has decided to let down all the bars and release for immediate public use more than 50,000 Russian scientific documents a year, an authoritative source revealed here today.

Every agency in the government which now translates such Soviet literature has agreed to take part in the plan, he said. "No longer will the documents be stamped 'secret' and left to gather dust in the files," he said. "From now on, all this important scientific material is going to be distributed to the nation's scientists just as fast as it can be handled."

Sharp Reversal
The sharp reversal in government policy was revealed by a source close to the government who is here as a delegate to the conference of American Abstracting and Indexing services. He asked not to be further identified.

The bulk of the Russian literature will be made available by the Central Intelligence Agency and the air forces' Air Information division. The air force set up its own intelligence agency to handle Russian documents some years ago. It has been using the facilities of the library of congress.

The material to be released first is current literature which has been received and translated within the past year. A backlog estimated to contain hundreds of thousands of documents will be released in small batches so the flood of literature doesn't swamp the country's scientists.

Only Secret Here
Most of the material has been "secret" only insofar as this country is concerned. All has been published openly in Russia, or in such European countries as East and West Germany and France.

The source said the material had been stamped secret for three reasons — security, because the agencies couldn't afford to produce enough copies, and because they couldn't afford the considerable costs of distribution.

Some of the documents, the source said, "undoubtedly originated in this country, were translated into Russian by the Soviets, brought back to this country and translated back into English — and then stamped 'secret.'"

Thomson Names Study Group on Urban Growth

Committee to Examine Problems Connected With Population Rises

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — Gov. Vernon W. Thomson has recognized rapidly growing urban areas in choosing members of a committee to study urbanization problems outside of Milwaukee county. He passed over the lower Fox River valley where urban population is expanding more rapidly than in most other sections of the state.

The governor acted under an act of the 1957 legislature intended to set up machinery for an exhaustive examination of city problems in connection with population expansion. A separate statutory commission is at work on the problems peculiar to metropolitan Milwaukee.

The eight members chosen will serve with seven members of the legislature, including Sen. Leo P. O'Brien, Green Bay, and William A. Draheim, Neenah, who are valley representatives but who also count sizeable rural populations in their constituencies.

Citizen Members
The citizen members chosen by Thomson are:

Maurice H. Schuster, Beloit, a real estate broker; Allan L. Edgerton, Fond du Lac, lawyer, and former city attorney; Franklin Wood, Eau Claire, an auto dealer; Philip G. Stark, Madison, realtor; Rolland J. Ruby, Elm Grove, a realtor; Arthur G. Dixon, Racine, a manufacturer and chairman of the Racine Area Study committee; Robert Mortenson, Madison, lobbyist and legal counsel for the Wisconsin Towns association, opponent of annexation; law reforms and other legislation sought by cities; Paul Schuette, Jr., Manitowoc, district agent for an insurance company.

The study group represents the second recognition by the legislature of the fact that larger cities are confronted with acute problems resulting from population growth.

5 Fox Cities Reservists to Join Exercise

Maj. Robert Nehring, commanding officer of the Fox Cities reserve program, and five Fox cities reservists will participate in a training exercise at Ft. Sheridan, Ill., Saturday and Sunday.

Participating in the exercise will be Lt. Col. Lawrence Zielinski, Menasha, Maj. Talbot Peterson, Appleton, Maj. George Schubring, Neenah, Sgt. Vernon C. Wichman, Appleton, and Cpl. Chester Crean, Menasha.

They will join more than 2,000 Mid-West reserve and National Guard members. The exercise will provide a refresher course in logistics, tactics and intelligence for division and unit commanders and their staffs.

2 Minor Crashes Reported in City

Two accidents were reported Wednesday by city police. None were serious and no one was injured.

A car driven by Peter J. Volkmmer, 17, 506 E. Parkway boulevard hit the side of a car driven by Richard R. Hartung, 16, 1916 N. Lawe street, about noon at N. Morrison street and E. Parkway. Police said after hitting Hartung's car, Volkmmer's car, eastbound on E. Parkway, went across Morrison, hit a tree, spun around and ended on the boulevard across the street from the tree.

A car driven by Edward F. Bolte, 24, route 1 Kaukauna, a Fox River bus driven by Harry H. Hill, 50, 2722 N. Richmond street, collided Wednesday afternoon at N. Meade and E. Pacific streets.

'57 Building Breaks All-Time Record High

School Projects Pick Up Slack in New Homes, Pushing Total Estimated Value to $9,686,081

An all-time record for building was set in Appleton during 1957. Building Inspector Walter Bogan's annual report shows.

Total estimated value of construction hit $9,686,081, compared with $9,503,439 estimated value in 1956, the previous leading year.

School construction is directly responsible for the upsurge in value since the annual bulk dollar-volume category — new homes — continued to slump.

Bogan's records show these five major categories of building:

New Homes: $3,740,200.
Schools: $3,599,677.
Commercial, Industrial: $1,632,215.
Home Improvements: $573,214.
Churches: $130,000.

263 New Homes
There were 263 permits for new homes, producing the $3,740,200 estimated value. The permits compare with 317 in 1956 and 426 in 1955, the all-time record. Estimated value in 1956 was $4,435,300. In 1955, it was $5,830,045, best so far.

Only six permits went into the $3,599,677 attributed to school activities. Largest was for the $1,200,000 Catholic High school. Next was for the $1,190,000 Madison Junior High school. Then came the $950,000 Lawrence college music-drama center, a $124,000 college quadrangle, a $105,677 Institute of Paper Chemistry pilot plant and a $30,000 Lawrence dormitory.

There were two large structures in the commercial and industrial field. One was the $6,191,6 N. Lawe street, about noon at N. Morrison street and E. Parkway. Police said after hitting Hartung's car, Volkmmer's car, eastbound on E. Parkway, went across Morrison, hit a tree, spun around and ended on the boulevard across the street from the tree.

40 Buildings Remodeled
In this same category were $205,400 spent on remodeling 40 buildings and $140,800 for five warehouses.

The home improvements total of $573,214 includes $159,300 for garages, $156,791 for roofing siding and insulation, $18,050 for porches and $239,073 for a variety of remodeling and other projects around the home.

The $130,000 from church projects includes $40,000 for the Church of the Open Bible building which was begun and then stopped by court order.

Bogan's report also shows $9,275 spent for 10 tanks 805 heating permits and 17 permits

Three More Permits for Homes Issued

Three more permits for new homes have been issued by Building Inspector Walter Bogan. They bring to 19 the number of such permits granted this year.

H. P. Meiers received two of them both for 4-room houses, with single baths, and both to cost about $10,000. One will be at 906 N. Sharon street, the other at 1824 W. Winnebago street.

Carl Lodholz received the other for a 6-room house, with bath and powder room, at 1619 S. Jefferson street. It will cost about $13,500.

Other permits, all for remodeling of homes, went to:

Erwin Naug, who will do about $1,150 work at 1413 S. Walden avenue.

Earl J. Plantz, who will do $1,150 work at 234 E. Frances street.

Cecile Gilbert, who will do $1,280 work at 1009 E. Glendale avenue.

George R. Kohler, who will do $1,150 work at 145 S. Walden avenue.

Clinton S. Haugen, who will do $1,100 work at 1004 S. Telluride avenue.

High School Begins Noon Study Periods

Noon hour study hall at Appleton High school is a new project being introduced and handled by members of the AHS student council. This is a student-initiated, student-organized and student-supervised study hall open to those who wish to study during the noon hour.

Helen Rugland and Jim Reeve, two council members, investigated the possibilities of a noon study hall after the subject was introduced by other council members. Rules and regulations have been set up and student council members have been appointed to act as monitors. The study hall has been designed as an "honor" study hall with no faculty members in charge.

City Meat Official Made 97 Inspections During Last Year

Dr. William Madson, city meat inspector, reports he made 97 inspections of meat at meat markets, grocery stores, restaurants and the county jail during 1957.

He also inspected 892 animals at slaughterhouses and issued 154 meat permits, resulting in $432.65 in fees.

17-Year-Old Held For Hitting Mother

A 17-year-old rural Shioceton youth has been placed in the Outagamie county jail pending investigation into his mother's story that the youth hit her in the face.

The mother said she and the youth were sitting in their kitchen when she read several "things from the paper to the young school of nursing and attending first aid classes at Red Cross headquarters.

AHS Students Begin 2 New Organizations

Two new clubs have been organized at Appleton High school.

One, the White Caps, is for girls interested in nursing. The other is an offspring of the Pep club and is designed for sophomores. The latter is called the J. V. Pep club.

The White Caps, now officially accepted by the student council, has a membership of 50 girls with Mrs. Arlene Nold.

The club meets twice a month during the noon hour.

The club visited the county hospital and took fruit and cookies to people at the city last week. Elected were Sue Ward, chairman; Sal Schultz, assistant chairman; Karen Calkins, assistant treasurer, and directors of the New London Community chest.

Officers will work directly under the officers of the Pep Bowers, vice president; Celia club.

Coffee for Polio Drive Scheduled

Many Appleton restaurants are planning a polio coffee day Friday to raise money for the Outagamie county March of Dimes drive.

John Bayless, honorary chairman for the 1-day event, has donated 100 pounds of coffee to the 18 participating restaurants and Fox Valley dairies have donated the necessary cream, according to Donald Strutz, co-chairman of the Appleton drive.

Each business place cooperating in the campaign will be identified by a prominently displayed sign, Bayless said.

The Knudsen, secretary-treasurer, and Peggy Jacobi, historian.

The J. V. Pep club has held several meetings which culminated in the election of officers last week. Elected were Sue Ward, chairman; Sal Schultz, assistant chairman; Karen Calkins, assistant treasurer, and directors of the New London Community chest.

Officers will work directly under the officers of the Pep Bowers, vice president; Celia club.

Advantages of County Health Department Told

More Effective, Efficient Service Could Be Offered in Area, Speakers Contend

The advantages of a county health department and the obstacles which might be met in setting one up were discussed before about 25 people who turned out for the Outagamie County Health Council meeting Wednesday evening.

Speakers, all in favor of such a move, were Dr. George Shinn, Green Bay, district six health officer; Dr. Carl Neidhold, president of the Appleton board of health and a member of the state board of health; and Mrs. Marion Freemore, county nurse.

Because Appleton does not have a full time health department as defined by state law, Outagamie county would be eligible to set up a county department rather than a city-county department, Dr. Shinn pointed out.

To set up a county department was made possible in 1947 by permissive state legislation rather than mandatory legislation, he explained. Although no other county department has been formed since then, mainly because of legislative and financial obstacles, several other counties are considering such an action, Dr. Shinn went on.

Need Aid
"The state board of health promotes county health departments but without state or federal aid they can't be established," Dr. Neidhold stated. "In counties where there are cities which do have full time health departments, the cities can choose whether they wish to become a part of the county department or not."

"In cases where they choose not to do so, no taxes can be levied against the city to support the county health department. This qualification was set up in state statutes after pressure by the League of Wisconsin Municipalities. But the state board of health believes cities would derive enough benefit from a county department to justify the levying of taxes against them."

Dr. Neidhold also contended state or federal aid would be needed to set up such departments. He noted Eau Claire received $63,000 in federal aid to set up its pilot county health department but has received nothing since the federal grant. He added the state of Virginia spent $2 million in 1957 to support county departments.

County Lacks Service
Mrs. Freemore said the county was greatly lacking in health services, particularly in state graded schools, and noted it was physically impossible for the two nurses employed by the county to carry out the health program needed in outlying areas.

She asserted the two nurses can visit each of the 107 county schools only about twice a year and can't make all the home visits requested. She said none of the schools already visited this year had its water tested, few had adequate first aid kits and few teachers were qualified to administer emergency first aid.

The nurse said much more should be done in the county in the fields of general health education, maternal and child care and dental hygiene promotion.

Dr. Shinn explained there are 31 health boards and health officers in Outagamie county while a county department, under law, would have only one board composed of seven members, four appointed by the county board and three by the city council.

Establish Laboratory
Under a county set-up, he said, many more services could be offered and a laboratory could be established rather than having the territory depend on the state laboratory of hygiene.

It was estimated $138,000 or

GOP Cleans Out Basement, Finds Living Quarters

Charleston, W. Va. — The Republican state administration, which began sweeping out Democrats on the top floors of the statehouse last January, wielded the broom in the basement recently.

By accident officials stumbled upon cozy living quarters — a 2-room suite equipped with bed, desk, telephone — downstairs.

C. C. Miller, former custodian under the Democrats, said the furnishings were his. He explained that a few years ago his superiors thought it would be a good idea if he stayed at the statehouse in case of trouble at night.

GOP officials ordered Miller to pack up his belongings, but he still has his present job with the Democratic state treasurer.

Lake Fly Drive To be Studied Tuesday Night

Progress Report Will be Given at Oshkosh Meeting

Oshkosh — A progress report on the campaign to rid Lake Winnebago of the lake fly nuisance will be given at a public meeting Tuesday night at the Athearn hotel.

Dr. Ernest A. Strakosch, Oshkosh, chairman of a committee formed last year to coordinate a lake fly research program, said the report will be submitted by four members of a joint University of Wisconsin - Oshkosh State college research team. They are: Dr. Robert Dicke, professor of entomology at the U. of W.; Dr. William Hilsenhoff, of the U. of W. entomology department faculty; and Dr. J. Daniel Palm and Dr.

Appleton Post-Crescent 3 Thursday, Jan. 30, 1958

Jacob Shapiro, both of OSC faculty.

Dr. Strakosch, who will serve as moderator, said Thomas Wirth, Oshkosh, conservation department biologist, will assist the panel in answering questions.

The meeting will begin at 7 o'clock.

In addition to outlining what has been accomplished so far, the research team will also discuss plans for the 1958 phase of the concentrated attack upon the lake fly problem.

The subject will be open to general discussion following the report and outline. The meeting is open to all residents of Oshkosh, Appleton, Neenah-Menasha, Fond du Lac, and all lake front residents.

Extensive studies of lake fly larvae, breeding cycles and the geography of Lake Winnebago as it affects the lake fly problem began here and at the U. of W. last summer. Organized last year was Winnebago Lake Fly Research, Inc., to facilitate, coordinate and simplify the collection of funds for a 3-year research program.

Drawing a Bead on the Golden Goose

Walter Reuther's latest proposal — government "supervision" of prices charged by large corporations — sets a new record for silliness even coming from so prolific a purveyor of ideas as the president of the UAW.

If there is any area where workers and managers have a common cause it is in the matter of gross corporation income. Both instinctively want it to be as high as possible; both, therefore, favor anything that increases sales of a corporation's products, and the prices received for those products.

It is true that workers are also consumers and thereby have a conflicting interest in keeping prices low. Few working people, however, have ever permitted their role as consumers to dominate their thinking to a point where they are willing to accept lower wages to keep prices down.

The price of any product today is importantly affected by the wages the producer must pay. When wages go up, prices naturally go up too. Any downward pressure on prices — whether exerted by the government or through the processes of the market place — brings about a corresponding downward pressure on wages.

Reuther would argue, of course, that employers should lower their prices without lowering wages, making up the difference out of profits. We suggest, however, a better way of getting a piece of the profits for his members. The UAW like all other big unions regularly raises from its membership a huge strike fund. Under our plan the UAW would raise such a fund this year but instead of calling a strike it would invest that money in the securities of the auto companies. Then the men could go on working and receiving wages, the companies' profits would hold up, and Reuther's workers would get a nice share of those profits in the form of dividends. Certainly if corporate profits are as swollen as Reuther constantly contends he should try to get his union in on some of the gravy instead of trying to bring down the whole structure that produces both wages and profits.

The Danger in Scientific Overemphasis

A report from the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction reveals that Wisconsin students are above the national average in their enrollment in high school science courses. As explained by R. F. Lewis, assistant superintendent, the compilation was begun several years ago and so is not up to date, but it is probable that more students are taking science courses today.

About 70 per cent are enrolled in general science, a course which the state department seems to think should be assimilated at the grade and junior high levels. Seventy-five per cent take biology, 43 per cent chemistry and 32 per cent physics.

Critics often charge that these figures are below the average for those earlier in the century, but such statistical finagling overlooks two important modifications. First, far more youngsters attend high school today and that particularly includes more in lower IQ brackets; and second, advanced science courses are considerably more advanced. It is almost impossible to squeeze everything that should be taught in a physics course, for instance, in one year.

But Lewis also ended his report with a warning which echoes some advice from Harvard's President Nathan Pusey. Said Lewis:

All areas of education are critical. Sputnik may have triggered many people to question the work done in certain educational channels. But we ought to become just as excited about other educational areas. We cannot afford to develop an imbalance in the preparation of our children.

Dr. Pusey, in commenting on the "serious emergency," said:

... it does not follow from this that it will serve the national interest if we and the other institutions in America's system of education now throw over what we have been doing and embark on a frenetic, concentrated effort to produce tens, or hopefully, even hundreds of thousands more scientists and engineers. ... There should not be an exaggerated emphasis in higher education on science — certainly not for exclusive preoccupation with those branches of science which have immediate military and technological significance.

The truth of such opinion becomes readily apparent when one considers such men as Dr. Robert Oppenheimer who, with extremely high intelligence and deep scientific knowledge, could not perceive the difference between siding up to the communist philosophy and standing for the integrity and liberty of mankind. It is apparent in the scientists who developed rockets to bombard England for Nazi Germany and transferred with ease either to Russia or America and went on with the work. It is apparent in the confusion of a top scientist appearing last week before a congressional committee, who could see no reason for barring Red Chinese scientists from a United States scientific convention.

Certainly we must fear letting Soviet Russia get ahead of us in scientific achievement so that we have only surrender or destruction as alternatives. But one of the great problems of the world today is that science has far outstripped understanding and spiritual growth. The humanities and the development of the potentials of the individual must continue to be emphasized in our educational institutions or it won't matter much if Russia does take over. Our failures to teach the comprehension of beliefs basic to our whole system of government has possibly been as much to blame for the growth of communism in other countries as has any alleged Russian scientific lead.

In addition Harris collected $209,701 on 1,666 acres in another part of Arizona which he took out of cotton production. But he says he's not figuring that payment into his calculations.

Actually bad weather cut the 1957 cotton crop to such a point that there may be a shortage, but not a big enough one to raise that 34 cents price. Harris' own production per acre was cut. However, he'll collect about $150,000 from the government since the penalty was premised on the 2½-bale yield.

The moral in the story is a little hard to come by. All farmers cannot or do not care to take the risks which were certainly inherent in Harris' plan. But it does show that an enterprising American, quick with figures and not basing his life on security, can sometimes out-think the United States government.

Or does it? What's the income tax on Harris' $50,000?

What Others are Saying

Soviet Education Challenge to West

From the Baltimore Sun

The virtue of the report on Russian education by the United States Office of Education is its completeness—and its completeness makes the findings the more disturbing.

This document is no panicky attempt to explain the Sputniks. It is not a piece of special pleading by an American scientist, trying to get more money and recognition for his specialty by warning how far ahead the Russians are in it. It is a thorough-going survey of all features of education in the Soviet Union, and shows how great and serious is the challenge to the West's system of teaching its young.

Certainly the Soviet challenge is not one to be met by sedulous apathy. Conscription of teachers, rigid federal control of the school system, the excessive preoccupation with science, compulsory military training of seventh-graders, party-line indoctrination of students—all these we should do without. But can we for any long period complacently accept our deficiencies?

The fascinating statistics of the report could be repeated for columns. The Russian child, for example, does in 10 years at least as much as it takes the American child 12 to do. In Soviet higher education, the student gets twice the number of instructional hours the American does—no absolute measure of how much each learns, but a disquieting figure nevertheless. ... In higher education, 40 per cent of the students study English, algebra and geometry. Start is in the sixth grade in Russia, an introduction to calculus in the tenth grade. The secondary school graduate is very likely to have had five years of physics and four years of chemistry.

The stress, as we have noted, is unusually, and from our point of view, undesirably heavy on the sciences.

But that is not the important thing. Rather, the important feature of the report is its description of how heavily the Russians are investing in the future in insisting their children be educated right up to the limits of their capacity.

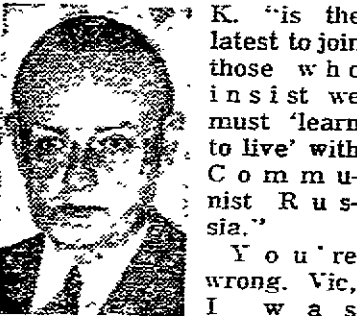

'Well, I Asked Them for Quick Action ...'

Post-Crescent Editorial Answered

Medal for 'Preventers of War' Asked By Publisher John S. Knight

Publisher John E. Knight, in the Knight Newspapers Victor I. Minahan Jr., editor of the Appleton (Wisconsin) Post-Crescent, says J. S. Knight is the latest to join those who insist we must 'learn to live' with Communist Russia.

Knight among the first.

Let's look at it this way. We all despise the Communist ideology. We fully understand the Soviet goal of world domination. Admittedly, Russia is not to be trusted, and incidentally, the Russians don't trust us either.

So what? We're living in the same world, aren't we? As I see it, we have the choice of negotiating with Russia or going to war.

There is no appeasement or dishonor inherent in talking with the Russians. That is precisely what we have been doing since the end of World War II.

If the policy is wrong now, it was wrong then.

Now I have no illusions that all of our differences can be settled amicably over the conference table. But it just might be possible to find agreement in a few limited areas.

At least, this would mark some progress in relieving world tensions.

Dulles Has Tempered Bluff and Bluster

I am against the Dulles policies because they have been proved sterile and unworkable.

When Mr. Dulles thought we held all of the cards, he was a "bluff and bluster" man. But nobody, including our allies and Russia, was bluffed worth a damn.

Since the Sputnik, Dulles has done less talking about "massive retaliation" but he continues to reject every Russian overture as "more propaganda."

Of course it's propaganda and the Russians are masters of the propaganda art.

But the world isn't sure and the more Mr. Dulles talks, the less other peoples are convinced of our peaceful intentions.

Ike can write a sincere and friendly letter to Premier Bulganin.

But not Mr. Dulles. "It is up to us," he says, "to make our freedom so rich, so dynamic, so self-disciplined that its values will be beyond dispute and its influence becomes so penetrating as to shorten the life expectancy of Communist imperialism."

These are high-sounding words but they would be better spoken by a Dulles in retirement than coming from a Secretary of State charged with the responsibility of finding a new approach to peace.

Greater Participation By Ike Would Help

Look, Mr. Minahan, we need time. You may have read that our defenses are lagging — that we are trailing the Russians in military-scientific development.

So let's keep talking while we make up the lag. I see no hope that an arms race will be productive of peace but with the world as it is, we have no choice but to strengthen our military muscle.

On January 5, I made the suggestion that the President should take personal charge of our diplomacy and national defense.

With respect to defense, it was good to hear him say in Chicago:

"I intend to participate personally until the job is done."

What is now needed is greater participation by the President in foreign policy and have him be, in effect, his own Secretary of State.

The shrill, uncompromising views of Mr. Dulles have made him the most unpopular man in Asia and Western Europe where, as The Kansas City Star has said, "it is imperative that our policies be rightly understood and freely supported."

In a word, Mr. Dulles has become a liability to future peace.

Medals for Men Who Prevent Wars

Editor Minahan charges that "Mr. Knight and men of like stature have become panic-stricken" and are advocating "the new appeasement."

Not at all, Vic. We simply recognize Russia as a fact and believe there is a better approach to world peace than threats and counter-threats.

We are not advocating any surrender of principle. We know there can be strength in diplomacy, as well as in arms.

Waving the flag may pass for patriotism in some quarters.

But the medals should go to the men who prevent wars, not to those who start them.

Gate Destruction in 1st Ward

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Feb. 1, 1879.

Two young men were arrested before Esq. Ming on Tuesday morning to answer to the charges of amusing themselves by tearing down a gate in front of a private residence in the First Ward.

They were each mulcted in the sum of five dollars and costs.

This gate smashing, removing and exchanging business has been carried on for some time in that part of the city. The residents have made up their minds no longer to submit to it in silence.

Punishment may be expected to follow a continuance of the inexcusable and destructive practice.

Legislative Groups Seek Outside Advice

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — So gradually that few persons seem aware of it, and perhaps without quite knowing that it was doing anything particularly noteworthy, the legislature during recent years has added a new ingredient to the traditional lawmaking method.

Virtually every one of the major legislative interim study commissions recently organized to provide guidance for the 1959 legislature has among its members three to five or more private citizens or representatives of local governments or other interest groups.

No longer is the business of legislative research and planning altogether a legislative function. The legislature is bringing the laity into the process.

This is perhaps an unconscious adaptation of the advisory committee concept that was so favored by the early LaFollette administrations when the administrative process was being evolved 40 or 50 years ago. It is hardly probable, however, that the stalwart Republicans running legislative affairs today are knowingly copying something from their erstwhile rivals on the state political stage.

IMPORTANCE

This is an important development for a number of reasons.

It gives the legislature the benefit, at tiny cost, of the experience and judgment of scores of key citizens and specialists, on topics which the legislature itself is scarcely equipped to judge with any confidence. It is an effective measure of public and group opinion on many subjects. Such citizen members, consciously or not, act as a kind of buffer, against which the formal politicians can bounce their ideas for acceptability. The end product, moreover, carries with it the prestige of those auxiliary authors, sometimes a vital consideration when the proposition is finally thrown into the cauldron of legislative debate and log-rolling.

Last week, perhaps to his own surprise, Mayor R. G. DuCharme of Menasha, an old friend of my apprentice days, was named a member of a legislative interim committee charged with making a study of the utilization of public school properties. Surely that is a vital current subject — to taxpayer and student alike. Almost as surely the legislative committee itself would have been poorly equipped to make any plausible decisions on the matter.

But in Mr. DuCharme, and in some of the other non-legislative members, the legislators have a channel of experience and current information, as well as local public opinion, that could have been found only at great expense and difficulty otherwise.

As the trusted and responsible mayor of a representative Wisconsin city where such considerations are as important as they are anywhere in the state as an old schoolman, and as an intelligent and discerning citizen, Duke DuCharme can render a useful service on a commanding subject — quite without expense to the state.

SLOW, BUT

Capitol newsmen, obliged to look in on as many as 15 legislative interim committee meetings each month, tend to become impatient at their leisurely and seemingly inconclusive deliberations. The committee, it must be confessed, is not a spectacularly effective way of getting public business done. The patterns of their work sometimes defy understanding.

But a wise old capitol observer used to say, in such situations, that such committees will pay their way if they only succeed in educating their own members. It is a good thing, for its own sake, to have a small corps of legislators better informed on particular subjects. It also is a good thing to have non-legislators better acquainted with the hard realities of law-making in the twentieth century.

Three Democratic senators propose a Cabinet Department of Science. If the Democrats get in, the Secretary will be an esteemed political scientist from Tammany Hall.

Republican Sen. Bush ridicules Detroit's trend toward ever bigger cars. The Republican sense of urgency is real. In fact, they're so desperate, they'll even settle for the sports car vote.

Ike's one-mile ride from the White House to the Pentagon indicates how times change. In 1952 his pledge was: "I will go to Korea." Now it is: "I will go to the Pentagon."

Few Know Background of Service Conflict

Information on Next War Would Help End Armed Forces Rivalry

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington — The American people have been hearing a lot lately about "A single chief of staff" for the armed forces and a "reorganization of the pentagon" so as to eliminate what is called "inter-service rivalries."

Yet few people know the background of the controversy and the hidden issues debated in the pentagon—the 5-sided building where thousands of officers of all the armed services perform their daily functions.

There is really nothing wrong with the "pentagon" that a little information from Soviet Russia wouldn't cure, as, for instance, exactly when the next war will break out and where and what kind of war it will be—that is, "local" or "limited" or "global."

Fundamentally, the main discussions here during the last decade have been concerned with the question of what strategy would be predominant if any kind of war came. Just after World War II ended, many of those who have argued that the concept of air power is out there above all else in importance.

But the army, which for a long time had been theoretical, is in favor of a single chief of staff, and a general staff, balking at having its tactical air force, for example, taken away from ground troops and insisted also on the ground—warfare concepts could not be shoved aside.

War at Sea
The navy felt that the command and operation of war at sea, not only on the surface but above and below, had to be retained under its own control without interference by some, in single chief who didn't understand sea techniques—submarine or floating aircraft carriers.

1947. A separate air force was created and, instead of two, there now are military advisers, but the joint three. Likewise, to the three chiefs of staff are too far away

Good Results Claimed For Driver Instruction

Madison — Wisconsin is expanding its program for sending traffic violators to school to teach them regulations they do not know or jog them on what they should know.

A law passed by the 1957 legislature makes it possible for state courts to assign violators to the type of schools set up or to be established in the state. The state motor vehicle department has reported that at least seven cities have these schools in operation.

Schools in Operation
The department assists in establishing the courses, and where possible they are conducted by local schools of vocational and adult education. Currently schools are operating in Beloit, Manitowoc, Eau Claire, Green Bay, Monroe, Sheboygan, and Waukesha.

It seems certain now that a rearrangement of the whole advisory system will be recommended to President Eisenhower by Secretary of Defense McElroy so as to promote efficiency and accelerate the consultation process.

KHS Cage Team Hopes to Halt Losing Streak

Ghosts to Invade Neenah Friday for M-E League Contest

Kaukauna — The vastly improved Galloping Ghost cagers of Kaukauna High school will attempt to halt a 2-game losing streak at 8 o'clock Friday night when they travel to Neenah to engage the strong Neenah Rocket quintet.

The Rockets hold second place in Mid-East conference play, the only loss coming at the hands of the strong Shawano Indians. Neenah took a 73 to 46 win over Kaukauna in the first meeting of the clubs here after the Ghosts had kept on the heels of the winners throughout most of the first half.

Coach Gerry Hopfensperger's charges have been making steady improvement as the season progresses with balanced scoring and good rebounding helping the team gain steam. The Ghosts failed to hit a 50-point average in their first four conference games but since have run up totals of 71, 61 and 58.

Likely Starters

The game will match youth against experience as Kaukauna has three underclassmen in its starting lineup while Neenah relies on five seniors, all letter winners, along with three seniors who see the bulk of reserve duty.

Starting for Kaukauna will be sophomores Lee Weyenberg and Bill Borchardt, junior Gary Vanevenhoven and the two seniors Bill Simon and Jim Walsh. Walsh and Simon were the lead-threats for Kaukauna in up early leads by hitting 14 early games but Weyenberg out of 26 shots in the first half, and Vanevenhoven have started their best offensive record in ed to score which gives the one game.

St. John managed an 11 to 10 in the side of the Ghosts in the first meeting of the clubs as he the second frame while limiting rapped up 20 points, the major-ity of his baskets coming on the set shots from far out on the court. Fred Seggelink added 15 had as much as a 20-point lead for the Rockets, most of his points coming on jump shots all from the free throw lane or under the basket. Pete Bylow and Ed Meyer each hit 12 points for the winners, the four men accounting for 59 of the total 73 points scored.

50-50 Tax Plan Must Be Paid by Friday

Little Chute — Clerk-treasurer, Mrs. Loretta Versteegen, has issued a reminder to taxpayers of the village that those who wish to pay on the 50-50 plan must do so by Friday afternoon.

Deadline for payment of half the amount of taxes is 4 o'clock Friday when the office will close. Those who follow this payment plan will have until July 1 to complete their payment.

KHS Students Achieve Goal to Bring Foreign Pupil to City

Kaukauna — After years of fund raising projects by students at Kaukauna High school to gain money to bring a foreign exchange student to the school, the goal has been reached and a home for the potential student has been secured.

The student is expected in Kaukauna for the 1958-59 school term and will reside at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur H. Haass, 501 Bel Air Court. The Maass' son, Lee, is currently a junior at Kaukauna High school.

The American Field service, sponsoring agency for foreign exchange students, advised the school not to specify the nationality of the student as the agency selects a person after a study of the community and the home where the foreign pupil is to reside. Originally students hoped to get a boy from France.

Arrives in August

The student is expected to arrive in Kaukauna sometime during August. Application for the student must be made by Feb. 15 and must be accompanied by a $650 fee to cover cost of travel. The student will receive an allowance of $12 per month from the American Field service but the KHS student council has set aside an additional fund to help the student with other expenses which might arise.

Ray Verhagen Honored by Legion Post

Grade School Coach Feted for 19 Years Of Service to Youth

Wrightstown—The highlight of the annual Wrightstown American Legion post athletic dinner Wednesday night was the presentation of a trophy to Ray Verhagen, post athletic officer, in honor of his devotion to youth.

The imposing trophy bears the inscription, "19 years of athletic coaching for the youth of the community, 1938 to 1957."

Lloyd Perkin, Ninth district commander and a Wrightstown post member, made the presentation declaring it was from all the youngsters Verhagen had helped.

Started As 7th Grader

Verhagen started organizing athletics in Wrightstown when he was a seventh grader and promoted 6-man football as the project of the Blue Bird Athletic club he organized.

He joined the navy when he graduated from high school and helped organize youth athletics in countries where he was stationed during World War II.

When he returned he organized a basketball team among grade schoolers and for the last five years he has been coaching the Legion-sponsored Rockets grade school football team.

The athletic dinner Wednesday was in honor of the Rocket players.

Verhagen presented trophies to Tom Zirbel, elected most valuable player and best back of the year; Jim Lamers, best defensive and offensive lineman, and Roy Reetz, 1958 captain and winner of the sportsmanship award.

Members of the high school athletic teams and cheerleading squad were guests at the dinner. They were introduced by Pete Tinsley, high school athletic director.

Highway 41 Relocation Discussed at Meeting

L. W. Empey, District Engineer Explains Proposed Work, Tells Need for New Road

Little Chute—L. W. Empey, district engineer for the state highway commission, told of Highway 41 relocation plans at a public meeting Wednesday night at the village hall.

Braves pitcher, told anecdotes of Braves players and introduced the showing of the 1957 season highlight films of the club.

Erwin Van Dyke was toastmaster. Don Muelemans is the post commander.

way 41 is one of the major north and south highways in the state and when it was built there was no indication of the economic upsurge which would hit the country and affect the automobile and traffic problem. The engineer said that between 5,000 and 7,000 cars use the highway in a 24-hour period.

Explaining why it is advisable to move the proposed 4-lane highway to the north of the present road, Empey said business places and homes create a problem along the road now.

Empey first explained what plans are at the present time and then displayed maps and models to show how portions of the road will look and what type of interchanges will be constructed.

Papermaker 5 Meets Raiders Friday Night

Attempt to Post Second Win Over Two Rivers Quint

Kimberly — After a stinging loss to Menasha, the Kimberly High basketball team will try to gain a Mid-Eastern conference victory at the hand of Two Rivers on the Raider court Friday night.

Menasha upset the favored Papermakers, 61 to 49, Tuesday night on the Bluejay court. In an earlier game Kimberly had disposed of the 'Jays by a 74 to 51 margin.

Coach Gil Frank's boys will have their hands full in Ron Brault and company at Two Rivers. In the first meeting

Kimberly pulled out a 64 to 60 win on their home floor. Brault was the point king in that contest scoring 31 points. Last week against Kaukauna the shifty senior scored another 31 markers.

Identical Records

Kimberly has a 5-3 record in the conference, the same mark the Raiders are sporting. Each team has lost to Neenah and Shawano besides the Papermakers beating the Raiders once and then Kimberly's loss to Menasha.

Winner of the game will have a chance to move into third place alone. The loser will drop to fourth and possibly a tie for fifth.

Probable starters for Kimberly are Hank Peerenboom and Don Hearden at guards, Darrell Jansen at center and Jack Lamers and Warren Polman at forwards.

Air Travel Surpasses Both Buses, Railroads

Washington — The airlines have zoomed past both the railroads and bus lines in passenger-miles of traffic, the Civil Aeronautics board announced today.

The board said in a statement that scheduled and non-scheduled airline passengers miles total 25,800,000 in 1957. Intercity bus travel was estimated at 25,200,000 miles for the year. Intercity railroad passenger travel was 21,600,000 miles in 1957.

The CAB said no leveling off is foreseen in the steady rise of passenger air traffic. The 1957 bus travel was about the same as in 1956, and railroad passenger volume has been declining for five years.

While Visions of Her Boyfriend float in her head, a teenager neglects her books and homework for day dreams. A national survey shows the majority of teens approve of midweek dating and many contend it helps with homework. "Dating during the week gives me something to look forward to, a reason for studying harder," one teenager stated.

What Young People Think

Teenagers Like Midweek Dating, They Say It Helps With Homework

(Editor's note: This is another in a series of articles on teenage views, thoughts and actions. The author is president of Gilbert Youth Research company.)

BY EUGENE GILBERT

Looks as if parents are going to have to man the barricades of their authority or run the risk of being overrun by teenagers bent on breaking down another traditional restraint. The issue this time is midweek dating. Time was when few youngsters, let alone parents, thought it permissible or wise for them to go out on dates during the school week. Now 70 per cent of the boys to whom we put the question asserted that they should be allowed to have midweek dates. While the same went for only 44 per cent of the girls, the over-all average was definitely affirmative. Nearly all those saying yes did so with the reservation that dating shouldn't interfere with studies. "If the homework is finished, I think it is all right to date," said a 17-year-old Missouri miss. "Dating is fine, but it shouldn't infringe on school work," added 16-year-old Mitchell Vogel of Chicago. Carol Neutzman, 14, of Flushing, N. Y., put it this way: "This is the only time we have to be young, and if studying, said dating doesn't impose at all and dating can be combined all on studying, but this was an opinion held by only 26 per cent of the girls. Thirty-one per cent of the boys said dating in- fringed 'just a little' and 17 per cent answered 'a lot.' The Doolittle of Sacramento, Calif. said: 'Dating during the week gives me something to look forward to, a reason for studying harder.' Joe Greenberg, 17, of Philadelphia, commented: 'When I know I am going out during the week, I study even harder the rest of the nights.' From those who disapproved of middle of the week dating came these views: 'Weekday dating takes up too much time'—Jerry Campbell, 15, of Seattle. 'Dates and books don't mix'—Martha Corbett of Omaha, Neb. 'I'd prefer to keep my dating out of my mind,' giggled a 16-year-old New York lass. Our survey also probed other study habits of the nation's teenagers, with some interesting results. We learned, for instance, that 73 per cent of the most youngsters—73 per cent of them—like to do their homework late in the evening, as most parents can testify. About 7 per cent prefer getting it out of the way as soon as they get home, and 9 per cent about one or two hours after reaching home.

Less than 1 per cent crawl out of bed early to do the work before school. Ten per cent reported they had enough study time to finish all their homework in school. Boys and girls were pretty much in agreement on this question.

The young people didn't hesitate to blame themselves for poor study habits or for procrastination in doing their work. A 15-year-old Indiana youth summed up the feelings of 97 per cent of those polled when he said: "Sometimes I just can't make myself get started with homework. I blame this completely on myself."

Accuse Parents
About 3 per cent blamed their friends and less than 1 per cent pointed an accusing finger at their parents.

Our pollsters almost had to plod: run for cover to escape the loud chorus of resounding my present homework done. I time. It is usually the first few days, or the first several weeks, that seem difficult. After that, you adjust—and things are normal again.

Only 2 per cent felt their teachers assigned insufficient homework. "Less time should be expected for home study," said 15-

How to Live Upside-Down Hours Working Night Shift

By Joseph G. Molner, M. D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Can you tell me why, when I work the midnight shift, I feel tired, and don't have any pep? Is there anything I could take to make me feel better?"—C.K."

Some people slide into a midnight shift easily and comfortably. Others find it hard to adjust to. Generally speaking, I think most people have some trouble in the beginning. I've been through this matter of changing hours myself.

It's also hard to switch the other way. If you get used to working at night, and then change to regular hours, it isn't easy to get yourself awake in the morning—or to go to bed at night.

Reflecting the views of the small minority, a 16-year-old girl stated: "One thing I had to learn was to tell people who had and babies, when father worked nights. The best answer is to supper instead of breakfast—so let the young ones conform to the family schedule to a considerable extent. A baby, you'll discover (perhaps to your surprise) learns with the greatest of ease whether to wake up at 6 a.m. or to sleep until 11. Nothing in nature decrees that you must rise and set with the sun. All that is required is that you get enough rest, and that you follow some sort of a regular schedule. You can change the schedule, but you soon find that the new one is all right, too.

Adage Old-Fashioned
When you've been getting up at night and sleeping during the day, and then start living upside-down hours, you wonder at first if something isn't wrong with it. You remember the adage about "early to bed is early to rise," and you forget that the saying was coined long before we had factories, street cars, power plants and other things that had to be kept running 24 hours a day. Yes, and the same is true of aspirin. Lack of pep on a midnight shift is usually due to one or more of these things: Inadequate sleep; poor meals; nerves about the potency, it's cheap enough to buy a new one, I long as your meals add up to enough of the right foods.

But if you don't sleep enough at regular hours, if you don't eat right, and if you don't stop worrying for fear there is something "wrong" with the hours, you'll suffer.

I don't recommend pills or drugs. I do recommend that you get enough sleep and the right food, and remind yourself that millions of people work nights and thrive. For some, an eye-mask to keep light out, can do wonders in giving you a sound day's sleep.

Iodine Freshness
"Dear Dr. Molner: How can one tell when a bottle of iodine is fresh?"—Mrs. E.S."

It retains its potency if kept tightly stoppered. It loses strength sitting on the medicine shelf with the seal broken, rather than on the druggist's shelf. For a reasonable time after you get either one, it will remain fresh enough. If you've had either long enough to wonder about the potency, it's cheap enough to buy a new one, I

Iodine Freshness

It retains its potency if kept tightly stoppered. It loses strength sitting on the medicine shelf with the seal broken, rather than on the druggist's shelf. For a reasonable time after you get either one, it will remain fresh enough. If you've had either long enough to wonder about the potency, it's cheap enough to buy a new one, I coalition cabinet headed by the man he despised, Hitler.

Liberal voices all over Germany immediately sounded the alarm. Such newspapers as the Frankfurter Zeitung declared:

"It will be necessary to defend with all means the rights of the people, the basic tenets of democracy, spiritual freedom and justice against this government."

It was too late. Only four days after becoming chancellor, crying for "new living space in the east," Hitler set out on the road to World War II.

For the former house painter the road led to what is now a rubble-covered field in Soviet-run East Berlin. In the closing days of the war, as the Russians thrust into the heart of Berlin, Hitler and his new bride, Eva Braun, committed suicide in the big air raid bunker behind the chancellery.

Their bodies were carried out in blankets, soaked with gasoline and burnt.

There today remain the ruins of the feehur's air raid bunker, jutting up like some prehistoric relic.

The Russians have blown up Hitler's chancellery and carted away the marble to decorate their embassy in East Berlin.

But along the edge of the field, where Hitler was cremated, red benches have been set up. Here Germans come to sit, and think no doubt about what happened there on Wilhelmplatz 25 years ago today.

Praises Safety Training in State Industry

Council Head Says Organization Plays Part in Lower Rates

Milwaukee —P— Leslie Mangin, Manitowoc, president of the Wisconsin Council of Safety Executives, said Wednesday the state's constantly improving industrial safety record is the result of a statewide training program.

Mangin said that because of the improving record, he felt the council could take some credit for the $41-million reduction in workmen's compensation insurance rates announced Tuesday. He was here for the opening today of the council's 16th annual midwinter conference and exposition.

Factors contributing to the state's safety record, Mangin said, were:

Various Factors
An average of 27.04 occupational injury cases per 1,000 workers covered by state unemployment compensation insurance, compared with 28.63 injuries in 1956.

State occupational fatalities averaged 42 per cent less than the nation's average during the 20-year period from 1936-56.

While the nation has shown a 45 per cent improvement in industrial fatalities during the period, Wisconsin has experienced a 54 per cent improvement.

Treason Trials Ordered for 95 In South Africa

Decision Ends 13-Month-Long Court Hearing

Johannesburg, South Africa —P— A preliminary inquiry today ordered 95 South Africans, opponents of the nationalist government's white supremacy policy, to stand trial on charges of high treason.

Ending a 13-month-long court hearing corresponding to a grand jury investigation, Magistrate F. C. A. Wessel ruled that there was "sufficient reason for putting all the accused on trial."

The government charged that they sought to overthrow it and set up a communist state. Defense Counsel V. C. Berrange contended his clients used only moral and peaceful persuasion in campaigning against the government's race legislation.

Those to be tried include 17 white, 60 Negroes, 16 Indians and 2 colored (mixed blood) persons. Three of the whites and two of the Negroes are women.

Plead Innocent

The defense attorney said all pleaded innocent. Berrange also asked for a trial by jury. However, it is expected the cases will go before a special court of two or three judges, which the prosecution can request for treason trials under South African procedure.

The trial probably will not take place for at least three months.

Nationwide police raids on Dec. 5, 1956, picked up 156 persons on suspicion of treason. After more than half a year, accusations against 61 persons were dropped.

The defendants have been free on bail most of the time since their arrests but requirements that they attend hearings have prevented them from holding jobs.

More than two million words of testimony and documentary evidence was put in the record of the preliminary hearing. The record so far runs to 8,000 pages.

Former Schoolmarm Makes Stage Debut in New Musical Comedy

New York —P— A former school teacher makes her Broadway debut this season in a coveted role in the musical comedy "Oh, Captain!"

Jacqueline McKeever, who was born in Catsaugua, Pa., was an elementary music supervisor at Livingston, N.J., until two years ago when she decided upon a stage career.

In "Oh, Captain!", based upon the hit movie "The Captain's Paradise," Miss McKeever plays a solemn English matron. The tune show, due in February, stars Tony Randall and Abbe Lane.

Port of Seattle Sign Certainly Went to Pot

Seattle —P— The Port of Seattle went to Pot yesterday.

As high winds raked the city yesterday, the "R" in the big "Port of Seattle" sign atop the port headquarters blew out, leaving a sign with somewhat dubious advertising qualities to greet mariners.

Douglas, Wyo., Underlined, Is Where 19-year-old Charles Starkweather, suspected slayer of 10 persons, and his 14-year-old girl friend, Caril Fugate, were captured after a running gun battle Wednesday. Starkweather was superficially wounded. (AP Wirephoto Map)

"we have everything we need now." He said the statement is evidence and declined to disclose it to reporters.

Girl Flees Car

The little gun toter appeared unconcerned about the girl. She was put under sedation after she had fled his car in hysterics shortly before his capture.

Dixon prepared to file murder charges today against Starkweather in the death of the Merle Collison, 37-year-old shoe salesman from Great Falls, Mont. Collison was shot as he slept in his car near here. An autopsy disclosed nine bullet wounds from a .22-caliber rifle.

First degree murder charges already have been filed against the pair in Nebraska.

Dixon said that one member of the Converse county board of commissioners at Douglas wanted to turn Starkweather over to Nebraska authorities but that he had not made any decision. He said he would file the charges in any case, and if it was decided to return Starkweather to Nebraska, he could waive Wyoming's claim on him.

Meanwhile, at Lincoln, Neb., Lancaster County Attorney Elmer Scheele said he and two officers would fly to Douglas today.

Possibly More Victims

Scheele said that "we are going to do our utmost to get him back here." Wyoming believed it had priority on prosecution if inside Lincoln posed it this way.

"We're still in a sick situation. We still don't know whether the number of victims will stop at nine."

They had no way of knowing yet whether more bodies will be found along the gruesome murder trail that began Monday.

There might have been more in Wyoming if Starkweather had not run out of ammunition. When captured, he had an empty .32 caliber pistol and he snarled that "if I'd had a gun I'd have shot them" (his captors).

Calls Youth Crazy

There was no immediate statement on any possible charges against the Fugate girl.

Starkweather told officers he had forced her to go along with him on the wild ride that ended in Wyoming cattle country.

She herself fled screaming from the car after Collison was shot and said that Starkweather was crazy and she feared for her own life.

Pacific Defense Talks Called 'Great Success'

Honolulu —P— Adm. Felix B. Stump, U.S. commander-in-chief in the Pacific, said 3-day top-level secret talks on Pacific defenses that ended yesterday were "a great success."

The gathering of six Pacific commanders was the largest since the Korean conflict.

A statement said the conference covered military aid to Asian nations, effective administration of the mutual security program and relations between military personnel and civilians in Far Eastern countries.

murder, the penalty is the gas chamber. But Wyoming Gov. Milward Simpson "strongly opposed to capital punishment and recently stated he would continue his policy of commutation."

In Nebraska, the death penalty is exacted in the electric chair if a defendant is found guilty of first degree murder and the jury sets the penalty at death.

Toll Of Deaths

This is the death toll charged to Starkweather by authorities: Marion Bartlett, 57, his wife Velda, 37, mother of Caril Fugate, and their daughter, Betty Jean, not quite 3-years-old, all of Lincoln, Neb. Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett were shot in the head. The girl died of a fractured skull.

August Meyer, 70, Bennet, Neb., bachelor farmer who died of a shotgun blast in the head.

Carol King, 16, and Robert Jensen, 17, Bennet, high school sweethearts whose bodies were found in a storm cellar at an abandoned schoolhouse near Bennet. They had been shot in the head.

C. Lauer Ward, 48, Lincoln businessman and president of Capital Steel Works, his wife, Clara, about 46, and Lillian Fencel, about 60, their housekeeper. All were found shot in the head.

Merle Collison, 37, Great Falls, Mont., shoe salesman. Collison was shot in the head several times.

In addition to the 10 deaths in two days, police want to question Starkweather about the death of 21-year-old Robert C. Colvert of Lincoln. Colvert, a service station operator, was found shot in the head last Dec. 1.

The bodies of the Bartlett family were found Monday night. Those of the other victims were found Tuesday, with the exception of Collison, who was slain yesterday.

"He is to lose his sight within a year," he said. He explained that his son was hit on the forehead with a piece of lumber a few years ago.

Sprinkle is a 6-footer and Starkweather 5 feet 5 inches. The barrel, Sprinkle said, "looked bigger every time I looked at it," but he wrenched it away.

Sheriff's men saw them scuffle and drove up to investigate. It was Starkweather's last sprint for freedom.

Report Attempt To Kill Red Chinese Premier

Claim Effort Made
By U. S.-Educated
Students Last July

London — The Manchester Guardian today reported three U. S.-educated Chinese students tried to assassinate Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai last July 28.

The Guardian said it obtained the information from a young Chinese, now in England, who was in China at the time and was associated indirectly with the assassination attempt.

The informant, who was referred to by the pseudonym "Mr. Li," said that although Chou escaped with his life, there were indications that he was wounded or at least suffered from shock. The three would-be killers were executed, "Li" said.

Peiping radio last July 31 said Chou appeared on a public platform that day before 20,000 Chou En-lai. They had only a people attending the army day celebration in the Chinese capital. Chou did not speak to the crowd, but apparently if he was the object of an assassination attempt three days before, he escaped with minor injuries or none at all.

Gives Account
The Guardian said its informant gave this account:

The assault on Chou was the culmination of a chain of events which began in 1950, when a group of Chinese students formed a club "at one of the largest American universities" and took an oath that they would "dedicate our lives to save China from communism."

The group later made their way to China and were sent to Peiping for a communist indoctrination course. They "drew others into our group,"

Half-Pint of Blood in Transfusion Saves Baby

Chicago — A half-pint blood transfusion was credited as a life saver for a tiny baby suffering from an RH blood factor condition.

The 47-day-old girl, Yvonne Fountain, weighed only 2 pounds 14 ounces when she was born prematurely in Presbyterian - St. Luke's hospital.

Hospital officials reported yesterday that her blood was RH positive and her mother's RH negative, a condition which caused destruction of the baby's blood and a threat to life.

In the transfusion, the baby's blood was alternately removed and replaced until the antibodies were carried away in sufficient amounts.

The baby was two days old when the transfusion was made. Now she is healthy and weighs five pounds.

until altogether there were about 60 of us."

At the end of the indoctrination course, the students were assigned to jobs in various parts of China. Before leaving there were given private interviews with a leading communist, usually Chou En-lai.

"On July 28, the guardian quoted 'Mr. Li.' 'Three of our group went to their interview intending to try to assassinate Chou En-lai. They knew that whether they were successful or not they would never return.

Didn't Come Back
"When they did not come back by that night, we knew they had made the attempt, but we did not know for a month that it had failed.

"It was given out that Chou was ill, and I did not see him at a public function until a performance of an Indian dancer at the end of August. Normally he was at parties and other public occasions night after night.

"At the theater he was subdued, and he left before the end. No more interviews were given to the students... he did not go with the Chinese delegation to the 40th anniversary celebrations in Moscow."

"Mr. Li" said he himself eventually made his way out of China through Malaya.

Claims Balloons to Provide Platform for Space Research

New York — Scientists will soon have a flying platform to peer over the edge of space, an air force balloon researcher said Wednesday.

Maj. Richard H. Braun described balloons he said would soon be able to follow the eye of a hurricane or act as a platform for the testing of nuclear weapons high in the atmosphere.

Present balloons, he said, can carry 2,000 pounds to some 100,000 feet.

Balloons will soon be able to carry loads of 4-5 tons as high as 100,000 feet, he told a joint meeting of the American Meteorological society and the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences.

Braun, an officer of the air force Cambridge Research center, Cambridge, Mass., added that balloons will soon be developed that can rise to heights of 150,000 feet — almost 29 miles.

At 110,000 feet — 99 per cent of the earth's atmospheric pressure is below you.

Plastic balloons also can be used, the major said, to carry air force men into the stratosphere to test bail-out techniques.

Cameras could be carried aloft to photograph large scale atmosphere as well as the observations of space.

Enraged Handyman Shoots 4 Policemen

Atlantic City, N. J. — A 67-year-old handyman enraged and nearly blinded by tear gas bombs hurled into his shack shot and wounded four policemen late last night.

Police said David Taylor ran from his tumbledown cabin with a shotgun ablaze and cut down the four policemen in rapid succession before being captured at about midnight.

Braun said it might seem strange for the air force to be working with balloons in an age of supersonic aircraft and missiles. But he said balloons could be a valuable tool in helping us learn more about our own atmosphere as well as the observations of space.

Banks Cater To Women and Younger Folk

Offering Special Facilities and Extra Services

BY SAM DAWSON

New York — Women and children first is the slogan today of a growing sector of the banking fraternity.

Wooing their friendship and business has wrought changes in banking architecture both inside and out. It plays a part in locating new banking offices throughout the suburbs and particularly in shopping centers.

To please women customers and some small fry depositors, too, the banks are offering special services and facilities. The trend has brought into the banking business such once unheard of things as fashion shows and seminars on family finance, afternoon teas and such give-aways as jars of honey, flower seeds or potted plants.

The big switchover by bankers in postwar years from one of austere dignity to one of out salesmanship with an eye on the ladies is, you may be sure, a cold and calculated one. Bankers have found that women, often with youngsters in tow, do an increasing share of the family's banking business. And competition among various financial institutions for their business has hastened the changes.

Woman in Major Role
The American Bankers association found in a survey of the public's banking habits and its gold room is richly decked with crochets that today the housewife pays more family bills, often plays a top role in family budgeting, and enters the bank as often as her spouse. He tops her on going to the bank to put money in. She outstrips him in going fireplace, damask walls, thick carpets, and fluted ivory woodwork trimmed with gold leaf. A most modern department stores and specialty shops in their interior decorating. Comfortable cove.

Arrest 300 Strikers In Argentina Walkout

Buenos Aires — Police Wednesday arrested more than 300 striking employees who defied a government ban on walkouts which might affect Argentina's economy.

The arrests were made during a raid on the employees' union headquarters after the union officials decided by a 1-vote margin to continue the strike. Some strikers milling in front of downtown banks were also arrested.

The banking strike has all but paralyzed business activity in Buenos Aires. In addition to the 60,000 bank clerks, about 300,000 construction workers and some 60,000 other workers are now out on strike.

chairs, lively murals, flower boxes and piped in music sometimes startle the old timers. And in the Manhattan Savings bank of New York's Madison avenue there are song birds. The First National bank of St. Louis offers safe deposit boxes in chaise longue, turquoise, citron yellow, fawn grey, desert tan and shocking pink. A Philadelphia bank with a majority of its thrift account depositors among the fair sex decks out both its passbooks and its tellers in a Duncan plaid.

Garden Party
In many powder rooms across the nation soft lights flatter the lady customer. The Philadelphia National bank opened its Conshohocken branch with a garden party to show off its landscaping. With the increasing number of affluent widows, catering to the dowager trade is gaining new aspects.

The Bank of New York's new Fifth avenue office has a generally modernistic decor, but the public's banking habits and its gold room is richly decked out in classical style as a prelude to the room for women to pre-arrange their bills, clip coupons, and enter the bank as often as her spouse. He tops her on going to the bank to put money in. She outstrips him in going fireplace, damask walls, thick carpets, and fluted ivory woodwork trimmed with gold leaf. A most modern department stores and specialty shops in their interior decorating. Comfortable cove.

Judge Turns Window Peepers as Part Of Court Hearing

Milwaukee — Circuit Judge Ronald A. Drechsler drove his car slowly into an alley Wednesday night, stopped and peered at an unshaded, second floor window in an apartment building. The trip was part of a case the judge is hearing. When his inspection was completed he said he thought two principals in the dispute were in error on judging distances, but said he was able to see through the window. He did not indicate whether he would be able to identify an individual from the distance.

The inspection grew out of a disorderly conduct case that resulted in $100 fines in Wauwatosa Police Court for Mrs. Madeline Powell, 33, and Alan Holmes, 34. They appealed the fines to Judge Drechsler's court.

Earlier Wednesday Sgt. Dale Jourdan testified that he had seen Holmes in the apartment, as the officer sat in his squad car at a spot about 40 feet from the window.

Holmes contended the officer had parked 136 feet from the window, a distance that would make it impossible to identify anyone inside.

Judge Drechsler's final decision will be made known March 7 when the case resumes.

Many States Taking Steps to Improve Science Instruction

BY CHARLES L. STAFFORD

New York—One educator put it this way: "We won't launch any satellites by turning out a lot of students in science fields."

"We may be turning out better ones."

He is J. Cloyd Miller, a member of the New Mexico State Board of Education. He was discussing a tough new rule that will send most of the science teachers in his state back to school.

Since the Russians successfully launched the first moon in October, Americans have been asking whether our educational system has failed, and if so where.

An Associated Press survey carried the question across the country to educators at both the state and local levels. At the state level, it found signs of positive action and a wealth of ideas. Several states have taken steps to improve science teaching, broaden the scope of science courses and give talented students new opportunities to learn. Others are studying what needs to be done.

Says Miller: "If they have been out a long while, they need refreshing in their fields. Science is something which doesn't stand still."

New Mexico is seeking better teaching. This may be a natural thing. New Mexico first joined the atom age. The first A-bomb was tested there, and high priority installations dot the state.

The new rule that Miller mentions almost triples the amount of study a teacher needs to teach science.

Requirements Grow

By Sept. 1, 1960, he says a science teacher must have 24 hours in laboratory courses, including eight hours of physics.

Second of Series and one course each in chemistry and biology. Two years later, the minimum requirement will be 36 hours of science.

"My idea is that if we'd had these strict requirements in the past—and could have gotten the teachers—we (the United States) would have been in a much better position today," says Miller, who also is president of New Mexico Western college.

The New York State Board of Regents has proposed a multi-million-dollar program. The plan includes an increase in scholarships from 6,000 to 12,000, including 500 more for engineering and science students. It would add one hour to the 34 hours of daily classroom work in junior and senior high schools.

An extra million dollars a year would be spent helping schools establish experimental courses in science. Special aid also would be provided for teachers wishing to tunity to take more than two courses in science. Gov. Orval Faubus has called for a re-evaluation of curricula.

California Meeting

California — Two hundred laymen and educators have been invited to Sacramento Feb. 24-25 to discuss what can be done to improve teaching of science and mathematics.

Connecticut — The state education department has hired a science consultant. A new curriculum guide is being worked out with emphasis on science, math and social studies.

Idaho — A statewide meeting of educators was held Jan. 20 to consider whether changes are needed in curricula. A state textbook commission study of science and mathematics texts has been speeded up.

Indiana — Testing of high school freshmen has been approved to determine how well they have been prepared at elementary and junior high levels. Under study is a proposal to give similar tests to graduating seniors in order to locate those who should be given special encouragement to study science and mathematics in college.

Iowa — Efforts are being made to raise standards of teacher education and certification.

Regional Workshops

Kentucky — Three 9-member committees of educators and laymen have been named to study accreditation standards and curricula. Regional workshops for science teachers have been increased from five to ten. A state science consultant will be hired.

Maine — The state board of education has urged all possible improvement in science and mathematics instruction at all school levels.

Massachusetts — An advisory committee on science and mathematics has been attempting for several months to determine whether curricular requirements are satisfactory. Many high school science teachers have taken part in a full scholarship program underwritten by the National Science Foundation. High schools are using professional scientists to augment teaching staffs.

Minnesota — An advisory committee is studying problems relating to science instruction. Another commission has been working since 1954 on a revision of secondary school science curricula. The state board of education has asked for a full-time science consultant.

Missouri — A committee of educators and laymen has been organized to see how technical training in high schools can be improved.

North Carolina — The Richardson Foundation of Greensboro — a family philanthropy — has given the state $50,000 for a study of public school curricular by specialists supervised by a permanent director.

North Dakota — High school students are being encouraged by the state to take more basic science courses.

Pennsylvania — Gov. George M. Leader called a conference of 150 educators and laymen to review the state's entire education picture.

South Dakota — District superintendents at a meeting Jan. 9 proposed federal aid for gifted students in small high schools and summer school sessions for such students.

Texas — In addition to requiring two units of science for graduation, the state board of education has begun a year-long study of what is being taught in public schools.

Virginia — The state board of education has begun implementing a program calling for matching funds to aid localities in obtaining science equipment, a state advisor in science and math, a review of textbooks by science advisory committee, and counseling by the same group on laboratory experiments and part-time employment opportunities.

Vermont — Education Commissioner A. John Holden, Jr., has recommended (1) a special advisory committee to review instruction in math and science, (2) establishment of a state science consultant post, and (3) improvement and extension of pupil guidance services.

Washington — New curriculum guides put out by the state department of public instruction are being revised for the 4th through 6th grades to include mention of space activities.

New Approach Cures Boy's Delinquency

Covington, Ky.—Police here have a new approach to curing a boy's delinquency. An 11-year-old youngster had been cited several times for "borrowing" bicycles. When he saw one unattended, he took a ride. When police learned the boy's family couldn't afford to buy one, officers chipped in yesterday and bought a used bike. The youngster promised he wouldn't "borrow" any more bikes.

Army Officer Kneels At Shrine of Woman Killed by Girard

Somaghara, Japan — A U. S. Army claims officer Wednesday delivered 629,396 yen ($1,748.32) to the husband and six children of the woman William S. Girard shot to death. Lt. Col. Joseph L. Haefele, Nocona, Texas, added 604 yen ($1,40) of his own to bring the payment of "consolation money" to a round 630,000 yen. Then he knelt before a Shinto shrine dedicated to the late Mrs. Naka Sakai and knelt again in the noise for discharge.

and put flowers on her grave. Akikichi Sakai, the husband of the scrap scavenger Girard killed while on guard duty on an army firing range, said in accepting the money: "I don't want to receive money at the cost of my wife. However, I think to refuse any longer would go against the sympathy of the people so I hereby receive this money but I do not thank you for it . . . " "I will spend it for my children's future including education, clothing and food. Also, I will build a tombstone for my wife," he said. Girard, 22, was convicted of manslaughter by a Japanese court, given a 3-year suspended sentence and sent home to Illinois.

Syria Cabinet Approves Union With Egypt

Damascus, Syria — The Syrian cabinet gave final approval Tuesday to union of Syria and Egypt. Syrian Premier Sabri Assali predicted proclamation of the united Arab state within the "next few days." President Shukri Kuwaty was reported as confirming expectations that President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt will be the union's president, subject to a plebiscite which presumably will approve the Arab hero overwhelmingly. Kuwaty is expected to become vice president.

Hospital Drive Falls $37,470 Short of Goal

Campaign May Reach $700,000 Quota
When Follow-Up Work Is Completed

The Appleton Memorial hospital completion fund today reached a total of $662,530, only $37,470 short of its goal.

New money reported this noon by workers at the final report luncheon amounted to $80,843 pushing the fund to 95 per cent of the $700,000 mark.

According to campaign officials there are a number of business firms, industries and individuals who, while indicating their desire to make a contribution, have not yet had time to take the necessary action to make their commitments definite.

Following the report luncheon, the campaign cabinet held a short meeting, at which time campaign leaders unanimously voted to follow up on these outstanding gifts until the goal is reached.

Each division chairman noted that there were still gift potentials in his group and pledged to support General Chairman Carl J. Schroeder in the effort to get these contributions turned in.

At the report luncheon, of the hospital family division, Schroeder praised the workers who made it possible to reach the total.

"Above all," he said, "the people of Appleton should be proud of this accomplishment. We have not failed, even though we haven't been able to report the full amount we started for."

"Our new hospital is going to open on schedule, and the people of Appleton have made it possible through their generosity so far. Everyone should keep in mind that our city of roughly 45,000 people has raised $2,500,000 for the hospital in less than three years. That's quite an accomplishment."

Money Breakdown

"This campaign is not officially closed," he added. "Campaign leaders are going to continue to work on those gifts which did not have time to crystallize before this final report meeting. We are still hopeful of reporting complete and unqualified victory soon."

A breakdown of the total gifts shows the hospital family reporting $22,100 for a total of $119,095. A further breakdown shows the medical staff with $26,150, Ladies auxiliary with $50,000, the hospital employees with $340 and the board of directors with $42,605.

The advance gifts division today reported $21,820 for a total of $183,528. The industrial division reported $8,500 today for a total of $294,820.

Total to date for the commercial national division is $15,675 and the commercial local division reported $1,780 for a total of $10,755.

Workers in the special gifts division today reported $4,633 for a new total of $32,312. Clubs and organizations reported $305 for a total of $6,345.

State Says Changes Needed in 2 Northside Stop-Go Lights

Dissatisfaction with stop-go lights which the city recently installed at N. Division street and N. Drew street intersections with Wisconsin avenue was expressed in a letter received today by the city.

Both lights split 70 - second cycles, with red lights holding traffic from all directions an equal amount of time.

State engineers from the Green Bay office say the N. Division light should split the red-light time 75-25 and the N. Drew light should split 70-30, in both cases giving Wisconsin avenue traffic the longer green light.

Need Parking Laws

This would mean, they said, 21 seconds of red light on Wisconsin avenue at N. Drew and 18 seconds of red light on Wisconsin traffic at N. Division. The red light for N. Drew traffic would last 49 seconds; the one for N. Division, 52 seconds, thus keeping a 70-second cycle.

Both lights fail to meet state requirements in one other way, the engineers said: Neither has the proper amount of parking restrictions at the corners for driver and pedestrian safety and ease of turning.

In addition, the engineers point out that the N. Division light now reverts to flashing caution between 1 o'clock and 6:30 in the morning. It ought to start about 10 o'clock at night and continue to 6:30, they said.

The engineers said they based their timing recommendations on traffic counts. One taken Feb. 14 at N. Division shows a 90-10 split of the 70-second cycle would be best in theory, they said. The one at N. Drew, taken June 19, shows an 80-20 split would be best.

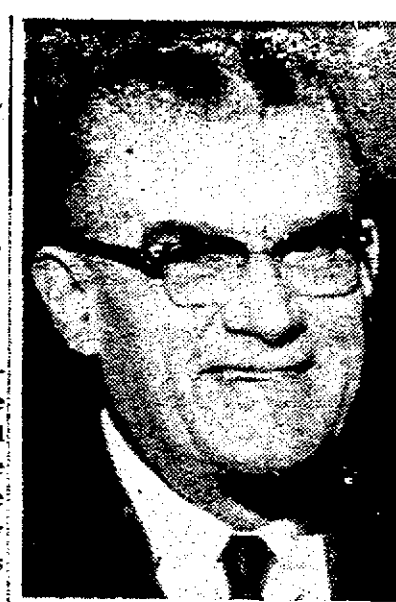

Public safety committeemen asked for a state survey of the N. Drew corner in December.

Wausau Man's Body Found in Used Car Lot

Wausau — The body of Andrew Nowicki, about 72, was found in an auto on a used car lot here Wednesday. Authorities said it was possible that he died two months ago.

A daughter, Mrs. Leonard Hall of Wausau, said Nowicki had been living with her but left early in November to visit another daughter, Mrs. John Schelicki, Appleton. Mrs. Hall said she had not seen him since.

Late in November police received reports that a man was seen entering and leaving the used car lot after hours. The car in which he was found had not been opened since early November.

Marathon County Coroner Herbert A. Lambert said death was from natural causes.

Co-Sponsor of Bill
Discusses Rivas Case
At Appleton Meeting

State Sen. Walter Merten, Milwaukee Republican, co-sponsor of the state's new relief residency bill, told members of the Eastern Wisconsin Welfare association at a meeting in Appleton Wednesday that attacks on the law are based on "hunch, emotion, intuition, votes and anything but facts."

He referred to the Rivas case in Milwaukee.

Susan Rivas, 1-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Rivas, died of pneumonia on Nov. 24 in the family's unheated apartment. The state relief law was attacked as a factor in the child's death. Rivas had been denied assistance last September because of lack of "legal settlement."

Rivas was scheduled to appear in Milwaukee District court today on charges of child neglect.

2-Year Income

Merten declared that the father had a 2-year income of $7,548 while three of his children were being born at taxpayers' expense.

"The Rivas family lived in Milwaukee since 1955 but was not eligible for state relief in 1957 because they accepted free medical assistance from Milwaukee county for birth of children in 1955, 1956 and 1957," he said.

"Their son was given free treatment in Milwaukee County General Hospital for 16 days in February, 1956."

"In less than two years the taxpayers provided $704.40 in medical care and service to a family whose father had a gross income of $7,548 in the same period."

Earned $4,100

According to Merten, an investigation showed Rivas earned $4,100 in 1956 and $2,800 in 1957 before he lost his job. Unemployment compensation boosted his income for 1957 to $3,448.

"How many residents' families in Wisconsin, earning $4,100 per year, were able to have the taxpayers pay for the birth of one of their children?" he asked.

Alfred R. Eggert, Outagamie county welfare director, said today that he concurs with Merten.

"The state of Wisconsin is one of the most lenient in the country when it comes to giving aid to out-of-state families. Most states merely ship the family back home with little medical care."

"Wisconsin offers 20 days of medical care in comparison to two or three days offered by some of the other states, he said.

Other speakers at the meeting included Dr. Harry Colgan, clinical director at Winnebago state hospital, who discussed a survey of personality theories.

Miss Ruth Bauman, Madison, director of the University of Wisconsin extension division bureau of governments, called for greater centralization of executive powers in county governments.

Instead of spreading new tasks to an increased number of committees, Miss Bauman said, work should be assigned to smaller, but more clearly defined, groups.

Norman Whitfield, case work supervisor at the Winnebago hospital, is president of the eastern Wisconsin welfare unit.

Police Agree, 'If You Can't Beat 'Em, Join 'Em'

Cincinnati — The Cincinnati police department, tired of watching hotrodders outdistance their patrol cars during speed chases, have decided to fight fire with fire. The department has purchased seven "souped up" cruisers which they hope will give them the edge on speeders.

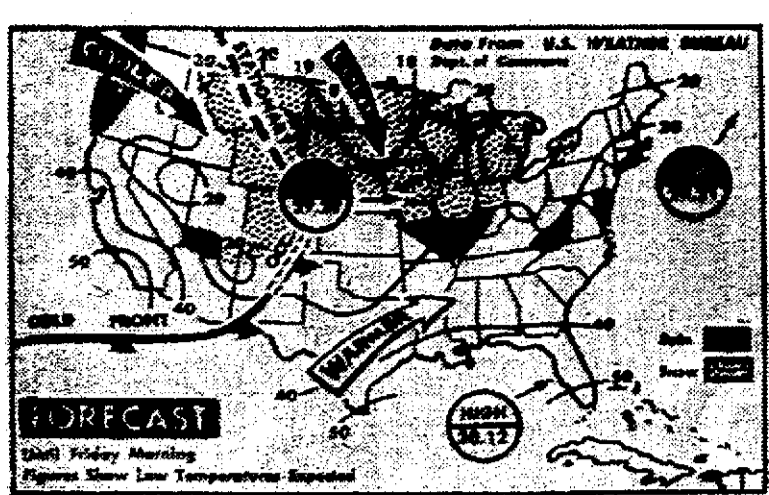

Girls Given Supervision for Shoplifting $1,000 in 2 Years

Two Little Chute girls, 16 and 17, were placed under the supervision of the Appleton Apostolate Wednesday by County Judge Stanley A. Staid for their shoplifting activities.

One of the girls had been involved in store thefts for about two years and the other girl began her thefts after taking up with the first. Little Chute police indicated.

The girls had stolen over $1,000 worth of merchandise from stores in Appleton, Kaukauna, Neenah, Menasha, Oshkosh and other cities outside this area. Much of the merchandise was recovered by Little Chute police one night a week and told them who broke the case about 10 days ago.

The girl who had been shoplifting the longest told police years of supervision, the other she learned about it two years ago.

Snow Is Expected Tonight for most of the area from the Great Lakes to the Rockies. Showers are in store for coastal Washington and Oregon. It will be colder in the western third of the nation and warmer in the great plains and Mississippi valley states. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Weather Stays The Same in Fox Cities Area

Cloudy skies, scattered light snow and comparatively mild temperatures is the weather story for the Fox Cities and the state.

The outlook for tonight and Friday repeats the theme—occasional light snow and little change in temperature.

The high point in Appleton Wednesday was 35 degrees with the overnight low at 22 degrees. At 11:15 this morning the temperature was 26 degrees, according to the weather station of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company. One inch of snow fell up to midnight Wednesday and light flurries came down between 7:30 and 9 o'clock this morning.

Most of the new snow in the state in the 24-hour period ending at 6 o'clock this morning was less than half an inch, except in the Park Falls area where one full inch was reported Wednesday.

State Lows

Minimum official temperatures during the night ranged from a low of 12 degrees at Grantsburg to 23 at Milwaukee. Devils Lake, N. D., hit the national low of 4 degrees below zero.

The weather bureau noted today that on Jan. 30, 1951, the mercury plummeted to 53 degrees below zero at Lone Rock, Milwaukee was the warmest spot in the state with 24 below that day.

Highs were topped by Green Bay's. Other maximums ranged down to Grantsburg's 24, compared with the nation's peak of 77 at Yuma, Ariz.

Amvets, VFW Plan Contest For Polio Fund

The Amvets and VFW are planning a March of Dimes wheel chair race through downtown Appleton Friday evening.

All proceeds will go to the Outagamie county March of Dimes campaign to be used for rehabilitation of the county's 81 polio victims.

The race will begin at 7 o'clock in the evening at the corner of Superior street and College avenue and will proceed east to Oneida street. Each chair will be moved one foot for every dime contributed and the first contestant to reach the Oneida street intersection will be named winner.

A similar stunt, considered successful, was staged last year by the same groups.

Several Meat Cuts Take Major Price Increases

Chickens, Ham, Sirloin Up as Much as 10 Cents Per Pound, Produce Also High

If the family food shopper was disturbed about the empty state of her pocketbook after last weekend's shopping excursion she might be downright angry when she ventures out this weekend.

There's no indication of a downward trend on any fresh food items and several cuts of meat, some of them considered bargains for the last few weeks, have taken major price increases.

Chickens, long a good buy, have gone up to 53 cents a pound — about 10 cents a pound more than last week — and picnic hams and ham roasts have jumped several cents per food stores is the price of eggs. They're an excellent buy now for this time of year.

With a dozen grade A large tags, a pound is a variety item. Mediums are a few cents lower but large sizes are considered a better buy for the price.

Most fruits and vegetables remain high and quality on those that aren't in the high price brackets with a few exceptions, must be checked closely.

Best vegetable buys are Wisconsin potatoes at 10 pounds for 43 cents, Idaho potatoes at 10 pounds for 69 cents, Texas yellow onions at 7 cents a pound and brussels sprouts at 25 cents a box.

Moderately to high priced are lettuce at 19 cents a head, carrots at 19 cents a bunch, celery at 29 cents a bunch, cucumbers at 19 cents each, radishes at 15 cents a bunch, green pepper at 21 cents each, peas in the pod at 29 cents a bunch, broccoli at 33 cents a bunch, cauliflower at 39 cents for a small head and green cabbage at 10 cents a pound.

These Winter Vegetables Thrifty, Tasty

When marketing, you may notice from a distance that "winter" vegetables are less expensive than the fresh green products or the frozen vegetables. You may well give turnips, parsnips and salsify a second look.

Salsify is also known as oyster plant, as it is supposed to have a flavor slightly reminiscent of oysters. It is not found in every market, but it is worth trying if you see it on a stand. Like other winter vegetables, it demands a rather long cooking. It is usually served with a sauce, although a flavored butter is sometimes used.

Parsnips and turnips, like salsify, need to be scraped before they are boiled until tender. While either of these may be diced and served with a sauce, the most interesting method for preparing the parsnips is to cut in strips and saute in butter or bacon drippings until lightly browned.

Yellow turnips and rutabagas have very much the same flavor, and may be mashed after boiling or diced before cooking and served with a sauce. The young white turnips, usually bunched and coming late in the season, need but a short cooking. They have a more delicate flavor than the yellow vegetable, but are not usually quite so popular with turnip lovers.

Oyster Plant
Wash and scrape salsify, or oyster plant. Plunge immediately in cold water to which a few drops of vinegar or lemon juice have been added to prevent discoloration. Cut in 1-inch slices and cook in plenty of boiling salted water 30 to 45 minutes, until tender. Drain, and combine with cream sauce. Allow one bunch (2 pounds) for six servings.

Turnips, Rutabagas
White and yellow turnips and rutabagas are prepared in the same manner. Scrub, pare, and cut in large pieces for mashing, or dice if to be served with a sauce. Cook uncovered in large amount of boiling salted water. Young turnips will cook in 15 to 30 minutes. Old turnips may need to be boiled an hour or more.

Drain, mash if desired, and season with butter, sugar, salt and pepper. Serve diced turnips with savory cream sauce or with hollandaise sauce. Allow one-third pound per serving.

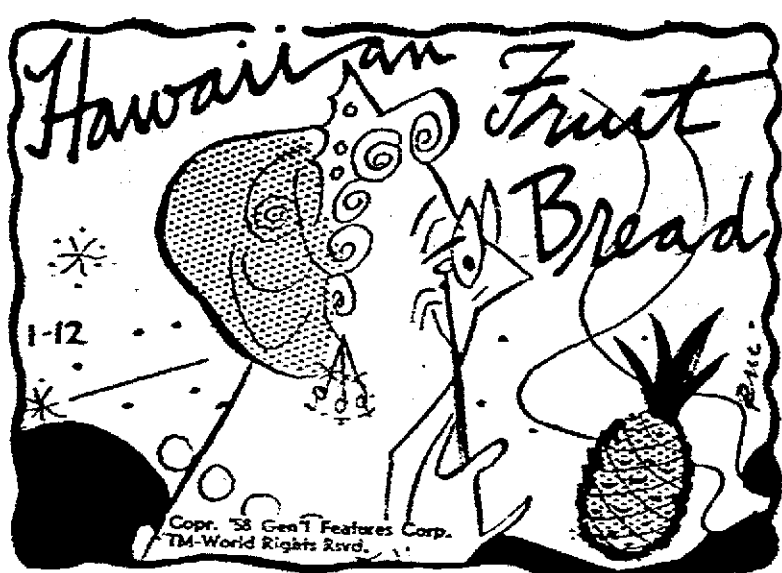

Proxmire Cites Welfare Case in Introducing Bill on Public Relief

Washington—P—Sen. Proxmire (D-Wis.) cited a Milwaukee case Tuesday as he introduced a bill that would prevent states denying persons federal aid because they failed to meet state-set residency requirements.

In a senate speech, he said, "Such requirements have proved to be a literal death sentence in the case of at least one helpless little child in my home state."

The bill would prohibit states from denying aid payments to needy aged, blind, the disabled and dependent children because of state invoked residence rules.

Such requirements, he said, "have certainly inflicted senseless and cruel hardship upon many others throughout those states which mistakenly establish such heartless barriers to our mercy and our compassion."

Hawaiian Fruit Bread Recipe From Vancouver Homemaker

BY FRANK KOHLER

Hawaiian Fruit Bread is a lush piece of island business which we like very much indeed, and for which we send thanks to Mrs. Betty Vaive, Vancouver, B.C.

Here are the ingredients:
3 cups flour.
4½ teaspoons baking powder.
1½ teaspoon salt.
1-3 cup sugar.
1 egg, well beaten.
2 tablespoons grated orange rind.
1 cup orange juice.
1 can (9 ounces) crushed pineapple.
1 cup salad oil.
2 cup fine chopped walnuts.
Walnut halves.

Sift flour, baking powder, salt, and stir in sugar. To the beaten egg add the orange juice, pineapple and mix well. Make a cooked noodles in a dish and, well in the dry ingredients.

Kohler and stir in the liquid mixture and mix well. Fold in the chopped nut meats.

Pour into a buttered loaf tin and decorate with the walnut halves. Bake at 350 degrees for one hour. When cold, slice thin and serve with butter.

Noodle-Frank Dinner
Mrs. Antonia Pecimovsky of Oklahoma City makes some rice "meal-in-one" things, and here is a good one. This can be done in a heavy skillet, well covered, atop the stove, or in the oven in a casserole.

1 cup bacon fat.
1 cup thin sliced onion.
1 can condensed tomato soup.
2½ cups water.
1½ teaspoons salt.
1 teaspoon pepper.
1 teaspoon Worcestershire.
2-3 cup chopped green pepper.
3 large frankfurters.
1 package (5 ounces) egg noodles.

Melt fat in skillet, then stir in the onion and cook until just golden. Make a sauce by combining the onion with soup, water, salt, pepper, Worcestershire, and green pepper in a mixing bowl. Split the frankfurters lengthwise, then cut each piece in half.

Arrange the frankfurters in the bottom of a lightly greased skillet or casserole, cover with half the sauce, and repeat the operation. Cover and cook over low heat or bake at 300 degrees for about 30 minutes, until noodles are tender. This is the first time we've incorporated unusually, fish should never be boiled—just kept at a low simmer. Call them either boiled or poached when you finish, but never let them cook too long, and never let them boil!

Top Baked Beans With Whole Wieners or Bits

It's Bean-Time, U.S.A., and time for delicious baked beans topped with plump, juicy wieners.

Bake the wieners on top of the casserole or cut in bite-size pieces and combine with beans for a tempting treat.

The history of baked beans goes back to the settlers of New England—that's when the first recipe was recorded in a cookbook. Their acceptance has been so universal that baked beans are now an American favorite. Canned baked beans make an easy, economical, satisfying way to prepare the casserole dinner.

Serve baked beans and wieners with this tasty Fruit and Cabbage Slaw.

Fruit-Cabbage Slaw
3 cups shredded cabbage
1 medium apple, chopped
1 cup crushed pineapple
2 cup salad dressing
1 cup pineapple juice
Combine cabbage, apple and pineapple. Make dressing with salad dressing and fruit juice. Toss with other salad ingredients. Chill and serve. Makes enough to serve eight.

Easy Dessert

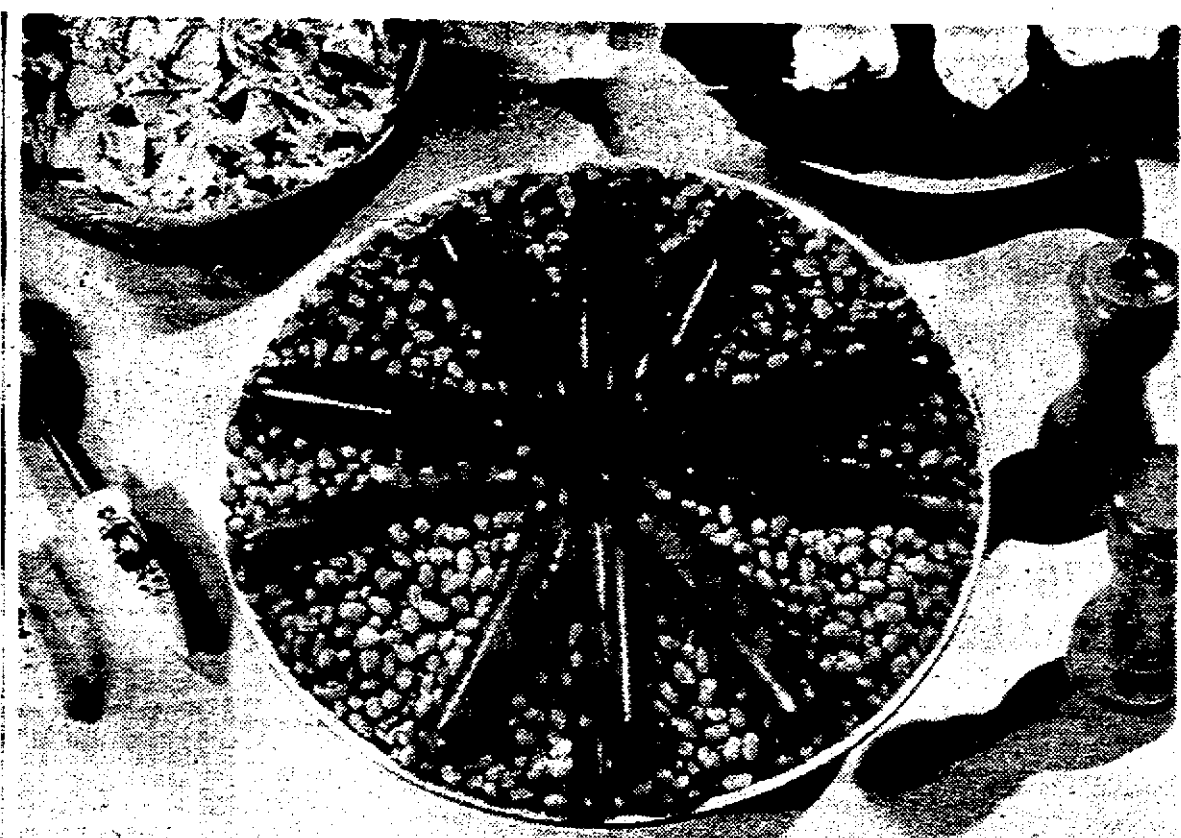

A quick and easy dessert is made with packaged gingerbread mix. Make gingerbread according to directions on package. While still warm, top with whipping cream flavored with cinnamon and maraschino cherry juice. Here's how to make the topping:

Fluffy Cream Topping
1 cup whipping cream
2 tablespoons maraschino cherry juice
2 tablespoons powdered sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
Whip cream as usual. While beating, combine juice, sugar and cinnamon. Fold into whipped cream and serve atop gingerbread squares. It's delicious.

Bill in Error, but Supermarket Pays Off

Anadarko, Okla. — When the electric bill of a big supermarket fell off drastically for six months, the municipal power department got to checking. It found that a new electric meter had been hooked up wrong, and the store owed the city about $800 based on previous bills. Embarrassed by it all, City Manager Joe Parris wrote the company a letter and asked if the supermarket would consider a late bill.

The city got a check back for $600.

Plump, Juicy Wieners are an American favorite. Here they are served, piping hot, atop a casserole of beans with a delicious fruit and cabbage slaw and hot gingerbread squares for a dessert.

These Inexpensive Lamb Riblets are Served With Dill

Lamb riblets are so economical because they contain a large percentage of fat and bone along with plenty of tasty lean meat and they are cut from the breast of lamb. Here's a recipe using lamb riblets that is a "dilly" — it actually contains whole dill seed!

Lamb Riblets With Dill
3 pounds lamb riblets
2 tablespoons fat
1 medium onion, chopped
1 cup water
2 tablespoons salt

1 teaspoon whole dill seed
1 teaspoon pepper

Brown riblets on all sides in hot fat; remove from pan and cook onion in fat three minutes.

Return meat to pan and add water, vinegar, salt, dill, and pepper. Cover and cook slowly one hour.

Raw Foods Prove Boon to Appetite

"Raw foods are not essential in the diet, but the texture, temperature, and flavor variety that a crisp, tangy salad or a sweet fresh fruit adds to a meal is a real boon to appetite and good digestion for most people," says Bulletin 345 of Wyoming agricultural experiment station.

"Then, too, we avoid the inevitable loss of some nutrients in the cooking process when we serve some fruits and vegetables raw every day," the bulletin states.

More than half of 199 selected representative homemakers in Albany county, Wyo., when interviewed said they served their families something raw every day.

The breakdown showed that 47 per cent served raw fruits every day and 64 per cent served raw vegetables daily. It was also found that 5 per cent never served raw fruits and 3 per cent never served raw vegetables.

Dress Up Cereal

Small fry often enjoy raisins added to the cereal. They like brown sugar on the cereal.

Labor Dinner for Management Set

Eighth Annual Event Sponsored
By Unions Scheduled for April 24

Menasha — The executive committee of the Neenah-Menasha labor council reported at Tuesday night's meeting of the group that it has started the groundwork for the eighth annual labor-management dinner which is set for April 24.

Raymond Beatty, financial secretary, reported on the March of Dimes fund drive. The council is asking all affiliated labor unions to send their contributions to the labor council by Friday night. These will be turned over in a group Saturday to the local campaign chairmen and announcement made of the total contributions by the labor unions.

Secretary Rufin Skibba announced that nomination and election of officers would be at the Feb. 11 meeting. A report on a recent Community Chest meeting was given by Hugo Woeckner, who represents the labor council on the Community Chest board. Reports on the recent union presidents dinner at which the labor council received its new charter from the AFL-CIO were given by Chairman Claude Cash, Skibba, Beatty and Robert Haaselsbacher, treasurer.

Tuesday night's meeting was the first under the new charter.

Hospital Master Plan Estimates Future Needs at Theda Clark

(Editor's note: This is the sixth in a series of articles explaining the long range master plan of expansion at Theda Clark hospital.)

Neenah — Theda Clark Memorial hospital's board of trustees, making its initial announcement about the master plan of expansion and development of the hospital, explained it was pointing toward a 700-bed hospital by the year 2000.

Since this series of reports on the master plan started, a number of residents have directed a general query toward hospital administration and trustees. How do you know what you will need by the year 2000? That's 42 years in the future. How can you plan that far ahead?

The board answers that specifically it does not know what will be needed by the year 2000. Long range planning, such as to the year 2000, does not determine peak capacity of the hospital at any expansion stage. The purpose of long range planning is to estimate only probable future demands for hospital services and make possible the testing of the hospital location and site. It also generally defines types and amounts of buildings needed. This minimizes risks of construction error from one stage of expansion to another.

Good Business

It's only good business to plan for the future. A nation, a state, a community, an industry, a school system, even an individual plans for the future. It is like taking out an insurance policy, or sickness and accident insurance. One may not need it for 42 years, one may need it in 15 to 20 years, one may need it tomorrow.

Industrial planning includes determining growth factors for the country, and along with that, it must consider population trends by areas and anticipated use of products or services. It must consider business trends on the basis of past and present conditions and anticipate the future. It must project its research and development on existing products and new products and plan for years ahead.

So it is with a hospital but on a more localized scale. It, too, must define the population growth of the area it serves and anticipate future growth. The hospital's product is service, and it must determine the demands for that product now and for the future, so it can be ready to meet them as they occur.

For example, when the last major expansion was completed at Theda Clark in 1947-48, the hospital board believed it had built for 20 years in the future. However, great demand for its "product" were triggered by an unusual growth of Neenah and Menasha because of excellent business and living conditions, and by the in-

Master Plan To Serve as General Guide

Increased number of people benefiting from hospital and surgical plans. Facilities became overloaded at the end of 10 years instead of 20.

Shorter Intervals

The best compromise between too frequent building and too many empty beds dictated expansion at 10 to 12 year intervals. Back of that planning is long and careful study of population growth and hospital use. The board is proposing, for example, to add 43 acute care beds during the first phase of expansion, 50 acute care beds during the second phase, 57 during the third, 64 during the fourth and 71 during the fifth.

It also is planning to increase the number of beds for long-term care services by 181 during the five stages of expansion and to add 70 beds for psychiatric service during the same period. Together with the acute care beds, this would bring the total of beds to 700 by the year 2000.

The planning by "stages" makes it possible to re-evaluate at the beginning of each new stage and change plans to fit conditions at that time. The 40 to 50 year forecasts can be considerably in error and still serve importantly as long as actual construction is on a stage basis, built around more immediate needs. In this way, errors of long range planning are not costly.

Barnyards on 4 Farms in County Paved During Year

Oshkosh — Thirty-four barnyards in the county were paved or otherwise permanently improved during 1957, a survey made by the county extension office and Dairy Herd Improvement association field men reveals.

This compares to 21 barnyards in 1956, 35 in 1955 and 50 in 1954. A total of 855 of the 1,750 dairy farms in the county now have improved barnyards.

Quality standards laid down by the state department of agriculture in the early 1950's gave momentum to this project. Later, dairy markets have been an incentive for this added investment to ease the job of high quality milk production on the farm.

Winnebago county farmers have been recognized for eight consecutive years for their barnyard improvement. Calculated is the only other county tying this record. The Wisconsin Dairy Federation has made these recognitions.

Rockets Aim For 13th Win

Meet Ghosts In Ninth M-E League Fray

Neenah — The winningest Neenah High school basketball team in recent years, currently ranked fifth in the weekly WIAA ratings, will return to its own gym after three successive away contests for a test against Kaukauna Friday evening.

The potent Rockets presently have a 12-1 record, including 7-1 in Mid-Eastern conference play. A win is an absolute must for them if they are to keep at the heels of unbeaten Shawano, which isn't expected to have too much trouble against Clintonville.

Neenah dropped two notches in the state standings through its loss to Shawano last week. Superior Central and Milwaukee North moved ahead into the third and fourth spots.

Defeat Bulldogs
The Rockets turned back New London on Jan. 10 in their last home encounter before hitting the road for games at Menasha, Shawano and Clintonville. In home games, wins were scored over New London, Two Rivers, Clintonville, Wisconsin Rapids and Fond du Lac.

The Rockets trimmed Kaukauna 73-46 without too much difficulty at Kaukauna on Dec. 6 but the Ghosts have come along nicely since then and have given every foe trouble. Since bowing to the Rockets, the Kaws have wins over Clintonville, Menasha, New London and Ripon and lost to Kimberly by 10, Shawano by 17 and Two Rivers by one in the last 10 seconds.

Trounce Trappers
The Rockets, after losing to Shawano Friday, showed no ill effects from that defeat and trounced Clintonville 64-44 the following evening.

They played the Trucker game without center Fred Segelink, who had a foot injury. He was in uniform but his services weren't required. Segelink, despite the ailment, performed magnificently at Shawano, scoring 29 points.

The Neenah five has been getting improved play from Gene Gries and Marv Carlson, which has helped the attack considerably. Gries scored 14 in the Clintonville win and hit seven against Shawano. Carlson made 15 in the Indian contest, including four baskets in the final frame. He hit seven points in the Trucker game.

Likely Kaukauna starters are sophomores Lee Weyenberg and Bill Borchert and Veterans Bill Simon, Gary Van-evenhoven and Jim Walsh. Neenah's openers will be chosen from Dave Thomsen, Ed Meyer, Gries, Carlson, Bill Kuehl, Pete Bylow and Segelink, if he is available.

Mid-Town. Tate had 201 and 212 games. Telin finished with 556.

Harold Walsh slapped the runnerup 605 series with 211 and 215 games. Al Blohm hit 213-202-597.

Other high scores included Merlin Cosgrove 551, Stan Miller 206-537, Erv Wanserski 222-537, Dick Hansen 526, Norm Zilisch 211-528, Basil Everson 201-544, Jim Konezke 200-547, John Bennett 203-537, Art Bra-zee 211, Don Schommer 220, Hillard Walbrun 526, Charles Bojarski 201 and Al LaCount 654.

Art's Skelly Service netted a 975 game and Wanserski's posted 2,593 for team laurels. Ciske Tavern leads with a 37-17 record. Wanserski's has 33-21 and Club Terrace and Avalon 27-27.

Dick Walbrun's 214 game and "Hezzie" Lang's 594 set were best in the Business Men's league Wednesday night at Mid-Town. Lang had 207-200 games. Walbrun also hit a 200 and closed with 538.

Harold Becker bowled 200-566, Bill Gear 200-572, Dr. E. J. Shelley 560, Erv Peterson 550, Ken Radichel 208-536, Al Kues-ler 526 and Bob Hansen 203-55.

Zephyrs Resume FVCC Slate Against Little Chute Squad

Need Victory to Keep Pace With Green Bay Premontre '5'

Menasha — Coach Ralph McClone's St. Mary cagers, who seem to have found the winning touch again after a week of miseries, will return to Fox Valley Catholic conference play Friday evening against St. John at the Menasha High school gym. Game time will be 8 o'clock.

The Zephyrs had all sorts of troubles for a week or so. Going into the Jan. 16 conference game against Springs they had a 4-0 league record and reigned as undisputed conference leader.

Bow to Springs
But in the Springers they ran into a hot free throw shooting quintet and, although they had nine more field goals, the Zephyrs emerged on the short end of a 57-48 score. The loss dropped them into a first place tie with Premontre.

Two days later, the Menash-ans journeyed to Mt. Calvary Lac Springs this evening, and lost by five points to the St. Lawrence seminary five.

The injury jinx then struck and high scoring Pat Below was lost for three weeks with a sprained ankle and several other boys weren't operating at top efficiency.

But the luck seemed to change toward the end of the week. Some of the boys who were hurt were back, the Menasha five outclassed Wayland by 22 points at Beaver Dam Friday evening and then came back to deal the St. Nazianz seminary its initial defeat in three years on Sunday afternoon.

Cadets Gain Lead
To say that a win over the Dutchmen Friday is a must is to put it mildly. St. Mary lost its tie for first when Premontre tripped St. Norbert last Thursday night and the Cad-ets can increase the pressure.

The two clubs put on a typical St. Mary-St. John tussle.

in the first meeting at Little Chute and the Zephyrs were forced to rally to take a 42-37 win.

Just about a year ago, St. John invaded the Menasha gym and dealt the Menashans a 49-47 reverse. That loss cost St. Mary a tie for the championship since they split even in two games with St. Norbert, the eventual champion.

St. John posts 3-3 league record in the clash on wins over St. Norbert, Springs and Lourdes and losses to the Zephyrs and Premontre (two). The Dutchmen led the league leaders at the half last Thursday but fell in arrears when they could only make four points in the third quarter and remained cold in the early stages of the fourth segment.

Among the bright spots in the Zephyr scheme of things last weekend included a 20-point effort by Jim Schueppert at Beaver Dam (he was ill and missed the Sunday game), good scoring by Norm Brown and Dean Schreiner, the improved play of Tom Balthazor and the play of Bill McGinnis in the seminary game.

Pecotte, Scott and Hammen have played six conference games and Jansen and Below five. The latter is expected to miss the next several league tests because of the ankle injury sustained last week.

The top individual effort of the season was 31 points by Bill Nuss, 6-5 junior center of Springs against Lourdes last weekend.

Conference teams are involved in two games tonight. They match Springs and Premontre at Fond du Lac and St. Norbert and Lourdes at De Pere. The Squires topped the Shamrocks 65-54 in their first meeting. Premontre turned back the Springs 62-58.

The unofficial scoring:

Pecotte	Lourdes	St. John	St. Mary	Springs

36	13	9	25	12

Schools Plan Activities on Brotherhood Week Ideals

Neenah — Public schools in the practical things which people can do to promote an understanding and realization of these ideals. The third is to enlist the support of a large number of people in year-round activities to build brotherhood.

Use will be made in the Neenah schools of human relations pamphlets of the National Conference of Christians and Jews and of its own moral values handbook, particularly the section on respect for individuals, which will be stressed as a source material.

Bulletin boards and posters on the brotherhood theme will be prepared in the various Neenah schools. Junior Red Cross gift boxes will be prepared as another activity emphasizing the opportunity of helping others. These will be presented at school assemblies.

A Delicious Lamb Recipe ideal for a buffet party is lamb Stroganoff. The meat slices and vegetables can be sauteed beforehand and the sour cream and dry sherry added just before serving.

Party Fare

Lamb Stroganoff Ideal Dish for Buffet Service

BY EDITH M. BARBER

Buffet service has become an accepted method for a party. Guests like it because it is informal and helps to start a party off gaily. The hostess likes it because she is able to prepare most of the foods beforehand and because she can allow the guests to help themselves.

Barber

A chafing dish, an electric grill or some other means of keeping foods warm at the table makes the buffet meal an even easier problem. For the main dish—unless we are serving something like cold ham or turkey—a recipe that calls for small portions of meat dressed with a sauce is usually chosen.

Among the most popular dishes of this sort is a meat with Stroganoff sauce, to which sour cream gives the character. Beef is often used, but lamb is also delicious. Whatever meat you use, it should be cut in thin slices, dredged in flour and lightly browned with seasonings. The final touch with the sour cream and dry sherry will be done at the last moment.

Fluffy rice, white or brown, or the popular wild rice or noodles go well with a Stroganoff. By the way, a new canned wild rice has recently come to the market. This needs but to be heated, although it is very good indeed with plenty of minced parsley added. For some purposes, you may like to add a few sauteed finely cut mushrooms.

Lamb Stroganoff
1½ pounds boneless lamb shoulder, thinly sliced
Seasoned flour
1-3 cup butter
1 clove garlic, finely chopped
½ cup chopped onions
1 pound mushrooms, sliced
Salt
Pepper
1½ cups sour cream
3 tablespoons dry sherry, if desired

Coat lamb with seasoned flour. Melt butter. Add lamb, garlic and onions and cook until lamb is lightly browned on all sides. Add mushrooms, salt and pepper to taste. Cover and cook over low heat 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add sour cream and sherry, and mix well. Serve with cooked rice.

Junior Editor Describes How To Make 'Exploding' Paper

BY CAPPY DICK
A folded paper that will "explode" with a loud noise is easy to make. Jimmy Strong, our assistant editor for boys, has tested this fun-project and considers it a good one.
Start with a piece of heavy wrapping paper eight inches square (Figure 1). Fold one edge upward to within an inch and a quarter of the opposite edge as in Figure 2. Then fold it end-to-end as in Figure 3.

How paper squares are folded for project.

Grasp the paper between your thumb and forefinger at the point where two single corners of the paper are side by side (Figure 5). With a sharp, downward swing of your forearm, cause the rush of air to permeate, and no proper names open the inside fold of the paper (Figure 6) with a loud bang. We managed to run up a score of 48 words on this one. See to work the stunt again, simultaneously with the letty by the corners and swing it downward. It can be used again and again until the paper has become torn.

You may decorate the inside surface of the paper with funny snipe, snip, sped, spied, spile, pictures. Figure 4 suggests two spine, spice, splice, spend, spin, growing dogs. Any other spindle, ceil, clip, pend, pencil, sketches that suit your fancy pine, pied, pile, plied, lend, may be used.

When Jimmy wants to have nice, epic.

Woman Says Dogs Fare Better in Russia Than Michigan

Lansing, Mich. — Dogs get a better break in Russia than in Michigan, says a woman legislator. Mrs. Lucille McCollough, a Democrat and dog owner from Dearborn assailed Michigan's dog law as "the most barbaric in the United States of America."
"People who complain about the Russians who sent up the dog in sputnik should look at what can happen to them right here in Michigan," she told the house agriculture committee. "Here we have a law that lets people go out and shoot a dog for no reason at all."
The law now permits a landowner outside a city to shoot a trespassing dog on sight. A proposed amendment would permit farmers and others to kill a dog only if it is molesting livestock or poultry.

Prevent Giving of Free Milk to Babies

Harrisburg, Pa. — The state milk control commission says it's sorry, but it must prevent milk dealers from giving free milk to babies.
The commission fined two Sunbury area dealers $50 each Tuesday because they had donated milk for a period to the first babies born in that area in 1958.
"Our hands are tied by law, it's an unfortunate situation," commented Commissioner Simon K. Uhl.
The law limits a dealer to distribution of only one free quart of milk to a prospective customer in a 6-month period. The regulation is designed to prevent undercutting of minimum milk prices through unlimited free distribution.
"Besides," commented Uhl, "technically new babies don't drink fluid cow's milk anyway."

Claims Some Texans Don't Know Own State

Austin, Texas — It may not convince anyone who knows a Texan, but a tourist expert says some natives of the Lone Star state know less about Texas than many visitors.
"So many people can't even give directions," said Tom Taylor, manager of information for the Texas Motor Coach association convention to organize efforts to attract tourists.

Annual Bonus Draw Eliminated by NFL

Owners Scrap System After Failing to Agree on Substitute

Philadelphia — The National Football league, acting on advice from congressional investigators, eliminated one of their player selection showpieces Wednesday night — the bonus choice.

League owners at their annual winter meeting also reaffirmed their television policy for another year, passed a rule giving further protection to college players and joined with the players association in retaining former all-pro star Bill Dudley, to formulate a player pension program.

Lambeau's Suggestion

Elimination of the bonus choice, though reported a possibility by Commissioner Bert Bell, came as somewhat of a surprise. Instituted in 1947 at the suggestion of "Curly" Lambeau, this out-of-the-hat drawing had become a feature of the annual player draft.

The Chicago Bears won the first bonus 12 years ago and chose Bob Fenimore, an Oklahoma A. & M. back.

The bonus choice preceded the start of the regular draft and gave the lucky team negotiating rights to any eligible college player in the country.

Bethea Cops Ring Decision Over Johnson

Chicago — Young Jack Johnson, who isn't young at 29, is fighting under an alias and maybe it's just as well.

His real name is John Storey, and the story goes that his handlers tabbed him with the Johnson moniker because he was supposed to have the build and style of the former heavyweight great of yesteryear.

Johnson had only two fights in the last two years and the rustiness of the 214-pounder from Los Angeles was glaringly apparent in Wednesday night's nationally televised bout at Chicago stadium.

Notes and Notions

by John L. Paustian

The Fox Cities Baseball club is considering the possibility of designating March 2-8 as "Baseball Week" to help stimulate interest in the coming Three-I league season. Director Dave Smith will secure from Lew Fonseca a crackerjack half-hour "baseball film," "20 Years of World Series Thrills," for showing at four different service club luncheon meetings that week.

A large-scale public baseball banquet is another prospective feature. A big-name baseball personality would be sought as principal speaker, and Fox Cities manager Pete Suder would likely appear. The World Series film would be shown as part of the program. If the banquet materializes, it will be held early that week since the regional basketball tournaments start March 6.

The club's "name the team" contest will start earlier than the mid-February date first announced. The contest is due to get under way early next week. One of those who urged an earlier start was Three-I League President Hal Totten who visited the two Wisconsin members of the circuit briefly last week.

As expected, Green Bay will play its games in Joannes park, home of the old Class D Bluejays—and it begins to look as if the nickname will be carried over, too. The Green Bay park board recently agreed to spend about $1,000 for repairs and refurbishments. Green Bay has elected a board of 40 directors, almost twice as many as the Fox Cities club chose. The Los Angeles Dodgers still haven't assigned a playing manager to Green Bay. The delay has no doubt been due to the mass confusion surrounding the parent club's move.

The Fox Cities and Green Bay aren't the first Wisconsin members of the Three-I. Madison was in the league for a number of years in the late '30s and early '40s.

The 3-I, unlike many circuits, has a rule permitting the home club to keep all the receipts. This provision has both advantages and drawbacks: It certainly serves as an incentive for a club to go all out in promoting its games. On the other hand, it could put a club with less imagination and poorer baseball in financial trouble because it can't cut in on the good draws of a winning and or live-wire club. Probably no league is stronger than its weakest link.

Two seasons ago many speculated as to which of the Fox River Valley conference's two scoring aces—Lance Olson and Sam Barnard—would go farthest in college basketball. Though the returns are far from complete on the two 1957-8 sophoms, Barnard is off to a faster start. About two inches taller than Olson, Sam broke into Wisconsin's starting lineup early and has a couple of 19-point games and several other good ones behind him. Olson is No. 6 or 7 man with MSU. It looks as if Olson will have to improve his outside shooting if he is to become a leading collegiate scorer. He isn't big enough by college standards to play underneath and get points wholesale as he did when he set the FRVC's all-time 1-season scoring record. I remember one game against Appleton, in which Olson tried playing on the outside and netted only nine points.

Three of Michigan State's top seven players are from Wisconsin—Olson, Tom Rand and Bob Anderegg—and three hail from Indiana. MSU Coach Fordy Anderson was quoted recently as saying, "I'm about as popular when I go to Madison, Wis., as I am when I visit Ann Arbor" (and that's not very). . . . "But once we got an inroad in Wisconsin, we just took advantage of it."

How's this for a way to start a fishing career? On her very first day of fishing, 9-year-old Linda Damro, of Kaukauna, hauled a 7-pound, 4-ounce walleye through Winnebago's ice at Fairy Springs. Her properly proud and surprised parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Damro.

"Bud" Kohn is looking for one more 1958 opponent for the Manawa High school football team he coaches. The Central Wisconsin conference school (255 enrolment) would like a game for Sept. 19 or 20, either home or away.

Ed Scherer tells us that the state skeet shooting tournament will again be held at the Waupaca Conservation league grounds this year. The dates are June 14-15.

Three Fox Cities area students in the Salvatorian seminary, St. Nazianz, recently played feature roles as the basketball team defeated a St. Norbert unit. Kimberly's Paul Gossens scored 28 points; Appleton's Tom Schulte, 22; and New London's Jack Mullarkey, 10.

Neenah Drops To Fifth in 'Big Sixteen'

Hortonville Quint Still 2nd Among Small Schools

(From AP Dispatches)

Neenah High's Rockets dropped from third to fifth in this week's ratings of the Wisconsin Intercollegiate Athletic association tournament committee, after losing to No. 1-ranked Shawano last weekend.

Fond du Lac conference-leading Manitowoc fell from fourth to ninth after its upset loss to Green Bay West on the Manty floor.

Wausau remained second while Superior Central moved into the third spot and Milwaukee North into fourth.

Teams which gained the "Big 16" this week after appearing in the "special mention" category last week include Plymouth (No. 14) and Oconto and Medford (tied for No. 16).

Appleton (8-3) and Green Bay East (8-3) are included in this week's "special mention" big schools. The Red Devils were No. 13 last time before their upset loss to the Terrors.

Hortonville remains second in the "Little 16," the spot it's held in all three ratings. Marshall, also all-victorious, stays in first.

Central Wisconsin conference co-leader Marion (12-1) is rated No. 13 after knocking off previously tenth-rated Iola. Marion was in the "special mention" category last week.

Other special mention "Little 16" schools include: Denmark (12-2) and Iola (9-2). West Salem (No. 9) is, like Marion, a newcomer to the ratings this week.

Musial Adds NL Salary Record to Long List

Only Ted Williams Is Expected to Top Stan's $100,000

By The Associated Press

Ever since they have been in the major leagues, Stan Musial and Ted Williams have bettered one baseball record or another.

Now Musial has added another to his long list. Put it under "highest annual salary, 1958 comeback with the Kansas City Athletics."—$100,000. The City Athletics. He was signed that figure Wednesday.

Stan's salary is not a major league mark only because Williams is expected to hit $125,000 when he comes to terms with the Boston Red Sox.

Musial's contract represented a $20,000 boost over 1957. The 37-year-old veteran earned it with his league-leading .351 average coupled with 29 homers and 102 runs batted in.

Should Have No Trouble

Williams, 39, who is more concerned with fishing than baseball at the moment, should have no trouble reaching a salary agreement with the Red Sox. Ted's .368 batting performance of last season is a good "line" and $125,000 is excellent "bait."

Almost from the start of Musial's career in 1941 baseball fans have been arguing whether Salas, 124, Tucson, Ariz., out-hitter or Williams is the better pointed Joey Augustin, 123, Ti-hitter.

FRIDAY NIGHTS GAMES:
Fond du Lac at Appleton.
East at North.
Manitowoc at Oshkosh.
Central at West.

BY MIKE DREW
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The top triumvirate in current Fox River Valley conference basketball standings are paired with the three tailenders in Friday night's warfare but none of the trio of power boys is likely to take its assignment for granted.

Last weekend's happenings—featuring upsets in three of the four FRVC games—likely impressed anyone who needed convincing with the old sports rule that games should be played one at a time.

Hence, when recently-bolstered Fond du Lac knocks on the doors of Appleton High's gym Friday night the basketball Terrors probably plan to be in their most inhospitable mood. The game opens the second round of FRVC play.

West Meets Central

In other similar pairings of first and second division talent front-running Manitowoc visits Oshkosh, and Green Bay East—now sharing second place with AHS—performs at Sheboygan North.

Perhaps the top attraction pairs fourth placers Green Bay West and Sheboygan Central in a fight for survival in the circuit's pennant chase.

Fresh from a 64-61 victory at Sheboygan North last weekend, Fond du Lac Friday will bring along a newcomer who impressed greatly in his first varsity appearance against the Raiders. He's 6-3 sophomore center Mike Murphy who wheeled in nine points and did a good defensive job at Sheboygan.

The Terrors, too, have moved a sophomore from the jayvees to the varsity. John Nussbaum joined the team this week, carrying with him such credentials as a 23-point outburst against the East junior varsity last weekend.

Senior Dave Schuetter, who has been No. 7 man on the varsity in recent outings, was cut by Coach Dick Emanuel early this week for violating training rules.

Nussbaum, a 5-9 guard who did much of his scoring against East from the pivot position, will probably get a shot at a top-substitute's job.

Tigers Invade Kohler Friday

Third-Place Falls Quintet Will Take on Brillion

EASTERN WISCONSIN CONFERENCE

Plymouth	W L	Brillion	W L
Kohler	7 1	Elkhart Lake	2 6
Sheboygan Falls	7 3	Chilton	1 7

Friday Night's Games:

Chilton at Kohler.
Sheboygan Falls at Brillion.
New Holstein at Plymouth.
Elkhart Lake at Valders.

Friday night, Plymouth High school runs into the final big obstacle blocking its efforts to achieve an unbeaten Eastern Wisconsin conference basketball season.

Plymouth will entertain New Holstein, which has won five straight league titles but retains only mathematical hopes of making it six. After a rocky 1-3 start, New Holstein has rebounded back to notch four successive wins.

Because the chance of a New Holstein win isn't unthinkable by any means, the tasks facing Brillion and Chilton shape up as being even harder than they ordinarily would. Kohler, which has a chance to tie for first if Plymouth is upset, will entertain Chilton's Tigers.

Sheboygan Falls, still in the title picture, will visit Brillion's week to hang up its first EW

Still on 'Critical' List

'Campy' Improves but Paralysis Continues

Glen Cove, N.Y.—(AP)—Dodger catcher Roy Campanella continued to improve today, but he still hasn't shaken off the paralysis which struck him from chest to toes in an auto accident.

The burly, 36-year-old baseball veteran has regained some feeling in his hands, arms and upper chest.

The hospital also said there had been an indication of strength and some movement in his hands. But his legs remained paralyzed.

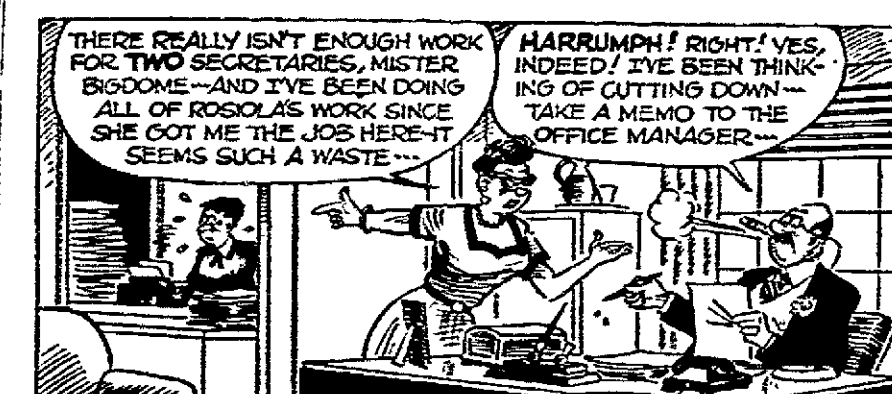

He still is on the critical list. Injured Tuesday

Campanella, three times the National league's Most Valuable Player with the Brooklyn Dodgers, was injured early Tuesday. His car skidded, hit a telephone pole and turned over.

Campy suffered a broken neck. He has been in a form of traction since a 41-hour operation to relieve pressure on a nerve.

His wife Ruth spent 24 hours at his bedside yesterday.

'Cream Comes to the Top'

Spahn Says Braves Will Repeat, But It Will Take Maximum Effort

Milwaukee.—(AP)—Warren Spahn, plain-spoken pitching ace of the Milwaukee Braves, today picked the world champions to repeat in 1958 because, "The cream has got to come to the top and we have the cream."

"But," he added as a note of caution, "it will take nothing less than a maximum effort by all of us. If we go out with the determination we had last year, we will hold onto what we have—the world championship."

Spahn, who will be 37 in April, was here to accept a special plaque from the Milwaukee title picture, will visit Brillion's week to hang up its first EW

Cubs Made $357 in '57 Despite Decline At Gate of $40,000

Chicago.—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs made a profit of about $1 per day last year.

Owner P. K. Wrigley announced at an annual stockholders' meeting Wednesday that the club operated $357 in the black last season despite a drop of $40,000 at the gate on a decline in attendance from 720,118 to 670,626.

The Cubs avoided the red because of $100,000 in proceeds from game-of-the-week television.

The club showed a loss of $145,712 in 1956.

Wrigley was reelected president and John Holland, Charles Grumm and Clarence Rowland were reelected vice presidents.

Bill Heymans who joined the club last fall after a stint as vice president at Los Angeles, was elected secretary treasurer. Holland previously handled the treasurer's duties.

There is little hope that Campy ever will be able to return to baseball as a player. Not only would there be physical danger because of the injury, but at 36, even Campy probably would not be able to come back.

He already had signed for 1958 with the Los Angeles Dodgers, although taking a cut to an estimated $36,500 after a poor year last season.

State's Official Deer Kill For 1957 Listed at 68,138

Madison.—(AP)—Wisconsin deer hunters in 1957 had their best year of the last five, getting 68,138 bucks, does or fawn during the 9-day season, a report compiled by the Conservation commission's game management division showed today.

There were 42,779 deer killed by regular licensed hunters and 25,359 deer of any sex killed by hunters who had special party permits which were issued this year for the first time.

The division estimated that about 30,000 party permits were issued and that about five of every six party permit holders were able to shoot deer. Under 138 bucks, does or fawn during the party permit plan, four or more hunters could get one permit to shoot a deer of any sex. The permit cost $5.

The report showed that there were about 280,000 licenses issued for big game hunting. This meant a revenue to the commission of about $1,120,000 because licenses fees were increased this year from $2.50 to $4.00. In addition the 30,000 party permits gave the commission a revenue of about $150,000.

The gun license sales in 1956 were 234,645 and the kill was 35,562.

The division reported that the best deer hunting last season was in Jackson county where 4,998 deer were killed. The county also led in 1956 with 2,121 deer killed. Following in order in 1957 were Marinette, with 4,475; Oneida, 3,775; Vilas, 3,480; Bayfield, 3,280; Forest, 3,219; Price, 2,843; Oconto, 2,370; Sawyer, 2,337; and Wood, 2,073.

The special liberal season for deer of either sex in northeastern Bayfield county resulted in a kill of 1,954 deer. The special season for deer of either sex during the first three days of the season in nine counties along the Mississippi river resulted in a kill of 4,857 deer.

baseball writers tonight for winning the Cy Young award as the major's top pitcher in 1957 when he won 20 games for the eighth time.

"If someone beats us this season," said the star southpaw, "they'll have to beat a better ball club than we had in 1957. I look for improvement at every position and no club in baseball can beat us and that includes the Yankees, or any other American league club, in the World Series."

"Any club that wins the National league pennant," he continued, "will win the world championship because we have the better league. The National league has at least two outstanding pitchers on each club. We proved last year we could outpitch and outthunder the American league."

Terrors to Face Improving Fondy Quintet

a 75-52 collapse at Manitowoc, was the only game since mid-December in which Appleton has failed to impress.

The rise of 6-5 sophomore Abel—who has scored 28 points in the last three games—has been a big factor in the improvement. Abel, who improves with every game, helps give the club bench strength it was missing in the early going.

The Terrors didn't practice Monday, and Howie Hamann and reserve guard John Cotton missed drills Tuesday and Wednesday. They were in Chicago to take Naval Reserve Officer Training corps examinations.

The Terrors dispatched Fondy, 64-51, in the conference opener at Fond du Lac, breaking up a tight 45-43 ball game with a last-quarter burst. Utwellung chucked in 27 points to lead Appleton in that one while guard Jim Damm headed the Cardinal offense with 12.

The 6-0 Damm is currently the eighth-ranking circuit scorer with 102 points. Fondy's "Hub" King (6-2) ranks twelfth with 91 tallies while Darrell McArthur (6-2) is seventeenth with 71.

AHS' Jack Utwellung is third in the individual scoring race with 148 points, one less than Manty's Bill Nelson and 13 fewer than defending scoring champ By Prentice, of East. The Terrors' only other performer in the top 20 is Hamann, with 66, for eighteenth spot.

In addition to their win over Mangrum and Lionel Hebert tied with 66s Wednesday in the Smedberg-coached Cardinals' pro-amateur preliminary to the only other win was a 62-53 decision over Oshkosh.

George Sauer Is Interested in Iowa State Job

Waco, Texas—(P)—Baylor Athletic Director George Sauer will fly to Ames, Iowa, Friday to be interviewed about the Iowa State college football coaching job.

"I'm interested," Sauer said Wednesday. He said he wants to get back into active coaching. He gave up the Baylor coaching job after the 1955 season and became athletic director on a full-time basis.

Iowa State is seeking a replacement for Jim Myers, who quit to go to Texas A&M.

4 Games Saturday Scoring, Fouling Down In Big 10 This Season

Chicago—(P)—Big Ten basketball teams, probably due to the conference's "no harm, no foul" principle in officiating, are scoring 2.3 points per game less than their 1957 season averages.

Official statistics released today disclosed conference teams are averaging 71.5 points per game for the first 26 league contests played this season.

While scoring is down, however, so are personal fouls which have dropped from a 1957 average of 17.9 per game to 15.0 to date this season.

Little Change

Semester examinations held competition to a minimum last week. As a result, there was little change in team standings or statistics.

However, the race swings back into high gear Saturday with a 4-game conference program highlighted by first-place Michigan's tussle with invading Purdue in a regional TV matinee. Michigan has a 3-1 record and Purdue stands 2-3.

Saturday night games include Ohio State (4-2) at Iowa (3-3); Minnesota (1-4) at Michigan State (3-2); and Northwestern (3-3) at Illinois (1-3). Indiana (3-2) has a non-loop appearance at De Paul. Wisconsin (3-3) is idle.

Marked Time

The Big Ten's two scoring leaders, Archie Dees of Indiana and Don Ohl of Illinois, marked time in the individual race with averages of 26.6 and 24.3.

Minnesota's George Kline held third place with a 22.4 average.

Share Prices Edge Higher Lose Portion of Early Advance in Afternoon Trade

New York—(P)—The stock market remained narrowly higher early this afternoon in quiet trading.

The edge of an early advance by steels and selected issues was blunted considerably. Gains of leading stocks were mainly fractional. There was a scattering of losers.

The market was again just past the November recovery highs, an area where further progress has always been difficult because of the supply of stock available at these prices.

Strong prices for copper, abroad helped shares of the industry. A cut in bankers acceptance rates was another sign of easier credit. But testimony in Washington by several economists that increased defense spending may not be enough to bring the economy out of its slump by mid-year was an item on the negative side.

U. S. Steel trimmed part of an early 1-point gain but continued in favor due to announcement of record yearly earnings. The second biggest steelmaker, Bethlehem, which reports on its '57 earnings today, was ahead a fraction at the start, then cancelled the gain. Youngstown Sheet and Lukens added fractions.

Chrysler also backed away slightly from an initial 1-point gain as the firing of its satellite-bearing Jupiter-C missile was still awaited. General Motors was firm and Ford eased.

Leading rails nudged ahead on average following their late rally of Wednesday.

U. S. government bonds were lower.

Montgomery Ward Net In Year to Jan. 31 To Decline, Barr Says

New York—Montgomery Ward and company's "earnings for the fiscal year ending Jan. 31 will be lower than last year," John A. Barr, chairman and president of the Chicago mail order chain, told the New York Security Analysts society. The company earned $35,844,479, or $2.65 a share, last year.

For the first nine months of the fiscal year ended Oct. 31, 1957, Ward's earnings fell 11 per cent to $18,888,880, or $1.38 a share, from $21,251,399, or $1.55 a share, for the nine months ended Oct. 31, 1956.

Sales, however, rose 1.6 per cent to $756,027,873 for the first nine months of the current fiscal year from $744,269,787 during the corresponding period in 1956.

Barr noted that earnings "will continue to reflect the higher costs and extraordinary expenditures required for the rebuilding job we are doing at Ward."

The company, which now operates 473 catalog stores and 560 retail stores, opened 182 catalog stores in the last 2 1/2 years and about 50 such stores will be opened in 1958.

Name Chairmen of Scout West Section

Mrs. George Skjoldager was elected chairman and Mrs. E. D. Weiss, co-chairman of the west Girl Scout neighborhood at a service team meeting Tuesday night at the Ambrosia room of Elm Tree bakery. They will hold office for a 2-year term. Mrs. Thorsten Johnson is the retiring chairman.

Members of the nominating committee were the Mmes. Joseph Maxa, Earl Harder and S. R. Gabert.

Mrs. Paul Trutschel presented a program on dramatics and how it can be used in troop activities, pointing out that it is an excellent media through which the shy child can learn to express herself. Mrs. Trutschel advised that a simple nursery rhyme or fairy tale, with familiar words and action, be chosen first to teach children to move and speak comically. Plays in pantomime, with a narrator and choral speaking, are easy media at any scouting level, she noted.

The neighborhood voted to hold a play day in spring to commemorate the Juliette Low friendship fund and approved an all-city effort for representation in Appleton churches on the Sunday during the observance of Girl Scout week in March. A proposed plan for a regularly featured program on a local radio station also was endorsed.

Record Selections for a Polio Hop Saturday night at Lincoln school were discussed by, from left, Jack Buss, William Borum, Jean Laux and Carole Rossmessl, with William "Sunny" Day, Appleton disc jockey. Proceeds of the benefit teenage dance were turned over to the Outagamie county March of Dimes crusade. Area disc jockeys were featured at the turntable during the evening. (Post-Crescent Photo)

"Winter Windup" was the theme for the dinner dance held at Butte des Morts Golf club Saturday night. At the snack table during a cocktail hour, which preceded the dinner dance, from left, are Dr. and Mrs. Lane Dickinson, guests from Urbana, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Frawley and Mr. and Mrs. Nick Engler. Dr. Dickinson is the son of the K. S. Dickinsons of Appleton. Diners in the lower photo, from left, are Steve DiLoreto and Miss Elinor LeMoine, Mrs. Richard Dungan and Mr. Dungan, all of Appleton. (Post-Crescent Photo)

4-H Clubs Plan Future Programs

Leaders for projects during the coming year include Mrs. Robert Conn, Mrs. Al Doberstein, general, Mrs. Alois Huettl, Mrs. Robert Conn, clothing, Mrs. Al Doberstein, home furnishings, and Sylvester Yogerst, dairy.

The meeting closed with a pledge to the 4-H club led by Charles Borchart. Club sessions are held the second Tuesday of each month at members' homes.

A Valentine party was planned by the St. John and Chat 4-H club Thursday night when a group met at the home of Judy Tillman. Members will be entertained at the February event by Judy Fischer.

Project meetings were discussed and enrolled cards collected at the meeting. Lunch closed the program.

Hope Evangelical and Reformed church, Fremont, was the setting of nuptial rites Saturday afternoon uniting Miss Ann Louise Zuehlke, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Zuehlke, route 2, Fremont, and James Franklin Bruette, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Brunette, route 1, Kaukauna. The newlyweds are residing at route 2, Fremont. (Carter-Hanson Photo)

In Good Taste How to Get Engagement Gift Back

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of ours became engaged several months ago and we sent his fiancée a very lovely (and quite expensive) present. The engagement has since been broken and I have heard that she has returned all the presents. However, I haven't received mine and I am wondering if a note telling her so would be in order?

Answer: Try to find someone who knows her well, who could explain to her that you have heard she has returned all her engagement presents but as you have not received yours, you are wondering if possibly it could have been sent by mistake to someone else.

Double Shower
Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of mine and her sister are going to be married this spring at a double wedding. I would like to give a shower for my friend but do not feel I am that friendly with her sister to give a shower for her, too. Could it possibly hurt the sister's feelings if I gave the shower for my friend alone or must I make it a double shower or none at all?

Answer: If you know very few of her sister's friends you can explain to her this obvious reason why you cannot make the shower a double one.

Discontinue Friendship Which Becomes 'Neurotic Attachment'

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: We have the most unusual problem you ever heard of. We have some friends who are too devoted to us—in fact, Ann, we can't shake 'em. They come over every night in the week and this is no exaggeration. If we aren't at home, they drive around town looking for our car and they track us down. Several times they've barged into the homes of friends when we are visiting and they act as if they, too, were invited guests. We like these people, Ann. They are good-hearted and would do anything in the world for us. But when we must hide our car, this is too much. Can you suggest something short of an open insult? — TOOTS

When friends make fugitives of you, it's no longer a "friendship" but a neurotic attachment which ought to be controlled or discontinued.

Visiting with the same couple every night is bound to be boring no matter how scintillating they are. And they must be plenty dull or someone else would seek them out, at least ONCE in a while. Tell them, tactfully and promptly to cut the siamese act or one day you'll let 'em have it in anger.

DEAR ANN: I am 14 years old and in the ninth grade. My mother has been divorced two years. My father was mean to her and she wouldn't have him back on a bet and neither would Mother has been keeping company with a divorced man who is good to her. He comes over almost every evening and brings food and helps her with the dishes. He teaches my brother how to build things, takes him fishing and buys him winter clothes. Mom says my brother needs the companionship of a man and that his own Daddy never treated him so good.

The problem is this: I'm ashamed to have this man around because I don't want anyone to know Mother is divorced. I tell people Dad is out of the country on business. Mom is 45 years old and has lived most of her life, so what does she need him for?

Print your answer in the paper, please, where she can see it. — BETTY

A woman who is divorced is not married. Mother has a perfect right to see this man. You'd better set the record straight regarding your dad's whereabouts. Your friends and neighbors aren't blind, Betty. You do Mother no favor when you tell people Dad is "away on business" and they see her with a male escort.

A 45-year-old woman is young according to today's standards. She's not ready to lie down and die. In a few years you and your brother will be on your own and Mother will be alone. Loneliness is a terrible thing. Companionship is what she "needs him for". So accept the situation cheerfully and be happy for your mother.

DEAR ANN: If you were 21 year of age, would you marry a fellow who had no bank account, a few debts, a very good job, lots of ambition, and unlimited faith in the future?

— PROSPECTIVE BUT UNCERTAIN BRIDE

Dear Prospective but Uncertain: I did.

BY NADEANE WALKER
Paris — Paris today really has a new Christian Dior. Applause and superlative rocketed 21-year-old Yves Saint-Laurent to the throne he inherited, as he presented a new sack line that is practically blimpish in proportions. Yves calls it the "trapeze line," and he launched himself, as boldly as the daring young man on the flying trapeze. His new silhouette falls flat from bosom to waist, and thereafter is puffy as a cloud. Dresses in this shape look so much like barrel coats that it's hard to tell them apart. Dior's young prodigy has brought off the miracle of a collection that looks as if it were designed by the late master's own hand, and is at the same time almost revolutionary in its newness. The applause came right from the beginning, continued through the collection with occasional wild outbreaks, and wound up with shouted "bravos." Tribute to Late Designer Before the first model, an announcement was made that this collection and following cut out between the breasts ones will be presented in perpetuity to Mr. Dior, a permanent tribute to the housekeeper of the Dior, bare minimum of coverage. The housekeeper of the Dior, sitting in the second row, whispered happily, "Christian Dior will be eternally here." The big difference in the new Saint-Laurent sack is that fullness falls right to the hem, which barely covers the knees in all the short models. It might be called the sack with the bosom. Often the only fitting discernible at all is on the bust. As usual, there are secondary shapes. One is a loosely belted shirtwaist, in long formal also. The suit of the day has a slightly belled skirt or even a fully-

Use Puffs Of Drapery

Paris — Sacks with a puff of drapery on the skirt front ran away with the Guy Laroche and Jean Desses collections Wednesday morning. Generous gathers above and behind the knee solved the problem of how to get around in the sack. Instead of hobble-hopping, you can stride if you feel like it. Laroche's second favorite is a long, loose-bodied dress with a very frilly or puffy skirt gathered on at mid-hip. Now that the designers are playing around with the plain old sack, it's often in danger of being submerged in drapes, frills or frou-frou. Fancied-Up Versions Desses declared: "The sack had to be made attractive. It was despised by every man." It was also, some suspect, too easy to copy. The new fancied up versions would drive a home dressmaker to despair. There is one sort of penguin-fronted sack, shown by both Desses and Laroche. It has a wide "V" or horseshoe shaped cutout to just below the waist, and the bodice is filled up with what the French call a "modesty," or sort of elongated bib, often in white. Others might be called sacks on the half-shell. A false coat is loose behind and reveals a fitted sheath in front. Laroche does another version with a false jacket. 'Baby Doll' Dresses The "baby doll" dresses that have been turning up all over, full from neck to knee, are not missing at Laroche, but he fits them in front. Low back drapery is sometimes supported by what might be described as flying buttresses from the shoulder blades. Other full backs are tied into a tube just behind the knees. The collection of relative newcomer Laroche—he opened with the spring season a year ago—was not as warmly applauded as his first two collections. Hemlines have hit high-water mark at Heim and Cardin, where they only half cover the knee. Desses gives you a peek at the bottom of the kneecap, and Laroche is a little more concealing. He also lets frilly petticoats peek out.

Our Children

Tell Youngsters Truth About Death, Says Patri

BY ANGELO PATRI

When death enters a family there is always the question as to what to tell the children. Tell them the truth as gently but as truly as it is. The one who has died was so ill and so tired, that he did not have strength to live, and so he died and is at peace. Little children can accept this. Young as they are, they should have met death in the world about them. They should have seen the dead cat, dog or insect and have been told, "It is dead." The attitude of the adults will, of course, reflect upon those of the children. Hysterics will certainly upset them and they should not be inflicted by the sight and sound of it. Surely grownup people know and understand that bit of common sense. The children of the family should not be excluded from the services lest they take on the fear and dread that such secrecy is likely to create. Try to keep the atmosphere as free from loud demonstrations of grief as possible. It is unwise to shroud death in the family in secrecy as far as the children are concerned. Talk to the children about the good times they had with the one who has left them. Remind them of the trips they had, of the things they laughed at, so the children's thoughts will not be centered about the fact of loss but on the pleasant memories of the past association. Tell the truth as best you can. There is nothing so heart-breaking for a parent to bear than a child's repeated question, "When is Daddy, or Momma coming home?" when the hard fact is that he can never come home again. To save the children and those who remain with them, the truth is best always. Episode in Life Life has its tragedies and its grief, as well as its joys. We cannot save children from the burdens of grief and allow them only the joys. Even if we could, we would not for that would destroy the very essence of living. When we shield children as they need shielding, we must draw the line between truth and untruth when dealing with the facts of life, of which death is one. It might help us in this emergency to remember that we have a way of projecting our emotions on the children and all the while they feel no such emotion. They are not always happy when we are, nor about the same things. Nor are they burdened with our griefs and do they grieve about the same things. Providence has already shielded the children from much they cannot bear so a little thought on our part will teach us what to say and when.
